THE COW WHO CAME TO DINNER

What we have here is a picture of a cow. But this cow, whose name is Ferdinand, isn't your ordinary garden variety milk cow. During the winter, she appears regularly at the back door of a farmhouse on Highway 97, where she plants her two front feet on the porch and stares in the window. "She's been doing it for the past two years," says her owner, Mrs. Noel Fraser, "every morning at 8 and at three in the afternoon. It's just to let us know that she wants to be fed." —(Courier Photo)

Victoria Considers Reprisal As Cigarette Ad Ban Defied

VICTORIA (CP) — British Columbia's ban on tobacco advertising was broken for the second time in two days today, when The Colonist carried the same five-column cigarette advertisement that was published Tuesday by the Victoria Times.

The Colonist is Victoria's morning paper. Both The Colonist and The Times are produced by Victoria Press Ltd. Provincial Attorney-General Leslie Peterson, questioned Tuesday about the ad in The Times, said he would recommend that no further government advertising be given to the newspaper.

He said the same embargo on government ads would be applied to any other newspapers in B.C. which followed the example of The Times, but said other newspapers would "no doubt be too responsible to follow this example."

However, the same ad for Belmont cigarettes appeared in today's Colonist, with a statement from Publisher Richard Bower almost identical to one carried on the front page of The Times by Publisher Stuart Underhill.

Both said they believe the ad-ban legislation to be beyond the competence of a provincial legislature.

Provincial laws prohibiting tobacco or liquor advertising came into effect last Sept. 1. Since that time, Mr. Underhill said, B.C. newspapers had refrained from such advertising, "observing laws which were hastily pushed through the B.C. legislature."

Mr. Peterson told reporters The Times was "performing a great public disservice" by running the Belmont ad.

He said that at the time the ban was imposed, The Times supported the government action. Now, only a week before the legislation was to be tested in B.C. Supreme Court, it chose to run the "illegal" advertising.

Mr. Peterson said the legislation will be tested for "validity and interpretation" Feb. 22 in Vancouver, by the same firm that advertised in The Times.

Douglas Says He'll Intercede To Aid Cuban Girl Stowaway

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — T. C. Douglas said Tuesday he's prepared to intercede on behalf of a 20-year-old Cuban girl who arrived here as a stowaway last week and asked for political asylum.

Immigration authorities in Ottawa have not yet announced a decision in the case of Lydia Rio Turino, who fled Cuba by stowing away on the Greek freighter Dorine Papalios.

Mr. Douglas, former leader of the New Democratic Party who represents the federal riding of Nanaimo, said in a telephone interview from Ottawa he doubts that the girl would succeed in an application for landed immigrant status under the immigration department's point system.

Under the system, applicants must compile a certain number of points, awarded for language ability, trade skills, employment guarantees, educational standing and other factors.

"She should appeal to the minister to give her permission to stay in Canada as a landed immigrant on the grounds that she is a political refugee seeking asylum," said Mr. Douglas.

He said he would be prepared to make strong representations to Immigration Minister Bryce Mackasey on that ground, and if that fails, "I would be prepared to appear before the Immigration Appeal Board myself."

U.S. Can't Afford Loss In Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States can no longer afford a multi-billion-dollar trade deficit with Canada, a commerce department trade official said today.

Edward L. Allen, a deputy assistant secretary for international economic research and analysis, said the actual trade deficit with Canada in 1971 ranged from $1.2 billion, the Canadian estimate, to $2.4 billion, the American estimate.

But the government is not expected to aggravate the situation by introducing unnecessary contentious bills.

Some of the more controversial bills left over from last session, including Labor Code amendments and a measure to regulate business competition, are unlikely to return in their former state, and probably not before the expected election.

The throne speech, which traditionally outlines legislation to come before Parliament, is expected to concentrate more on the state of Canada and hopes for its future. Some cabinet ministers are known to be an-

U.S. Dock Strike May Soon End

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Longshore leaders have recommended ratification of a tentative contract to end the crippling 131-day U.S. West Coast dock strike, raising hopes workers will be back on the job by Sunday.

The 110 delegates to a union caucus voted Tuesday to submit the agreement to the 13,000 rank and file members at the 24 strike-bound ports from Seattle to San Diego.

"If the vote is favorable we will try to arrange for an immediate return to work by Sunday," said Sidney Roger, information officer for the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

ILWU President Harry Bridges supports ratification. He said the contract provides "solid and substantial gains."

The union reached the tentative agreement with the 122 shippers of the Pacific Maritime Association last week. PMA members are expected to ratify the pact within a day or so.

The strike has caused losses in U.S. exports estimated by the White House at more than $600 million and prompted Congress to give President Nixon power to halt the walkout.

The tentative agreement was announced Feb. 8, the day before Congress gave Nixon the authority he had requested to end the strike and order compulsory arbitration.

Good news, Jumbo. The dock strike's over!

BLUE CHIPS LEAD NEW YORK (AP) — Blue chips led a stock market advance today as the trading pace quickened.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 6.85 at 921.36.

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — A bomb attack that damaged police and fire headquarters here today was linked by a top state law enforcement official to "the People's Liberation Army," an anti-war group.

Immigration System 'Needs Checking'

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative House Leader Gerald Baldwin called today for a full parliamentary inquiry into the immigration system, currently beset by severe problems.

Slides Shut Canyon To CNR Traffic

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two snowslides in the Fraser Canyon today caused passengers on the CNR's westbound transcontinental to be bussed to Vancouver from Boston Bar, a company spokesman said. The spokesman also reported minor slides on rail lines east of Kamloops.

JUST IN TIME FOR FUNERAL

LA CORUNA, Spain (Reuter) — Merchant seaman Manuel Carballada returned home Tuesday in time for his own funeral.

The 32-year-old sailor fell overboard from the Panamanian vessel San Salvador as it passed through Malacca Straits nearly a month ago. When the ship arrived in Bangkok the captain reported him missing and presumed dead.

But after spending more than 50 hours in the water, Carballada was picked up by a Japanese cargo ship and taken to Bombay, where he was in hospital unconscious for 18 days. After his recovery he flew to Paris, then Madrid, and finally to this northwestern port city.

When he walked in the door Tuesday he found his weeping mother and mourning relatives making final preparations for his funeral.

The service had been delayed because Carballada's mother refused to believe he was dead.

Vernon Man Still Hunted

An employee who was 'left alone' during a farewell party at a Vernon bank is still being hunted in connection with the disappearance of more than $33,000.

A province-wide search is being conducted after RCMP issued a warrant charging John Wayne Geick, 22, with theft after cash, a quantity of travelers cheques and negotiable bonds were missed Monday from the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Police said Geick, who was transferred recently from a Vancouver branch of the bank, carried a suitcase to work with him Friday and told other bank employees he was travelling to Vancouver after work that night.

He was left alone in the bank for a time Friday during a small party for another member of the staff who was being transferred, police said.

U.K. Miners Stand Firm

LONDON (AP) — Britain's coal strike and the resulting power famine sent the unemployment total above 2.5 million today, the highest since the depression year of 1932, but the Trades Union Congress rejected a back-to-work appeal by Prime Minister Edward Heath.

With industry reduced to a three-day week because electric power stations can't get coal to fuel their generators, the employment department said 1.2 million men and women or five per cent of the working population, had been laid off since Monday.

Before that the unemployed total was 1,023,000, and 280,000 miners are on strike.

With the strike in its sixth week, 10 power plants shut down and 70 more reduced their output. The power cuts were increased 50 per cent today, increasing the blackout for homes, factories and offices to three hours-period, or a total of nine hours.

But there are expected to be a series of studies on capital punishment, after a public opinion poll indicated 63 per cent of Canadians favor the death penalty.

The Governor-General, who usually receives a day or two earlier, will begin reading it shortly after 11 a.m. Thursday.

A new neighborhood improvement program is expected to be featured in the speech since some of the details were made public several weeks ago.

Officials say legislation dealing with young offenders is unlikely to return after a House committee recommended it be overhauled.

Copter Rescues Third Survivor In Ship Wreck

Flights Remain Snarled

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Air Canada cancelled more than half of its flights out of Toronto today and about two-thirds of its domestic flights from Montreal as a country-wide strike by electronics technicians entered its 11th day.

Airlines urged passengers to take buses or trains as flight delays were reported across Canada. Some flights from Toronto were taken off six hours later.

Mediation talks resumed in Ottawa at 10 a.m. EST between the government's treasury board and Local 2228, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, in effort to settle the wage dispute.

Traffic in and out of other major airports was hectic Tuesday as air controllers resorted to visual procedures for commercial takeoffs and landings.

The helicopter crew wrapped the delicate radar equipment broke down without maintenance.

Conditions today appeared about the same or slightly worse.

CANCEL 60 FLIGHTS An Air Canada spokesman said the airline had to cancel 60 of 112 scheduled flights from Toronto. It got about two-thirds of its flights out Tuesday.

CP Air said its usual 20 flights would leave Toronto today but it couldn't guarantee when.

Equalization 'Must Stay'

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Premier Alex Campbell said Tuesday Prince Edward Island will meet any challenge to its right for equalization payments with all the abilities, arguments and finance it can put forth.

He was commenting on an announcement that British Columbia will challenge the federal government's equalization payments program in the courts.

Premier Campbell said he would have hoped "that the government of any Canadian province disenchanted with equalization would have sought political solutions to a constitutional problem at the provincial or federal-provincial conferences."

He noted that British Columbia had sought such a solution on the West Coast off-shore oil ownership issue in preference to a court settlement.

Mr. Campbell said he wanted it "abundantly clear" P.E.I. will oppose any move by B.C. to stop equalization payments to the island province.

He said he had not always taken seriously the criticisms of Premier W. A. C. Bennett of B.C., "especially when he has proposed equalization be replaced by a guaranteed minimum income."

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Finance Minister John C. Crosbie says Newfoundland would have to "close up shop" if the federal government's equalization payments to the have-not provinces were ended.

Six Others Feared Drowned In Cape Breton Tragedy

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — A third survivor was taken today from the wrecked fishing trawler Gulf Gull, grounded in nearby Baleine Bay in eastern Cape Breton. Six other men are missing and presumed drowned.

A Canadian forces helicopter made a second attempt today to lift Ernie Burns, 17, of New Waterford N.S., from the deck of the battered vessel. He was flown to hospital in Sydney.

A member of the four-man helicopter crew said the survivor was in shock and appeared to have his hands and feet frozen.

He said the man managed to say a few words and indicated there might be another survivor.

Cpl. Paul Baiden said that when lowered to the deck, he and an officer of the helicopter crew managed to get a door open.

They discovered the entire hull filled with water. There was "no way a man could be inside and still alive."

The helicopter crew wrapped the survivor in canvas to keep him warm.

The helicopter returned to the wreck after taking the survivor to Sydney.

The 86-foot Gulf Gull was driven ashore in high seas early Tuesday. Only the captain and one young seaman reached shore safely. Police said there was little hope for the six missing men.

News of the grounding did not reach authorities until nearly 13 hours after the fish-laden ship was driven sideways onto the shore of the ice-clogged bay by high winds.

Nineteen-year-old Danny Burns, brother of the man rescued today, managed to reach shore and then started through nearby woods for help. He became lost and it wasn't until late afternoon that he reached a telephone. The ship had grounded at about 3 a.m.

Names of the missing men were being withheld by the trawler's owners.

Police said it appeared the ship's stern had been pushed farther into the jammed ice near the shore as the day wore on, retired fishermen told police he saw four men clinging to the ship's stern. One of the men was about to collapse from exhaustion.

They disappeared off stern

He said he left to get some rope, hoping to save the men. When he returned, the men had disappeared from the stern of the ship.

There was no sign then of three other fishermen. The fourth—Captain Joseph Dominix of Halifax—had been carried ashore.

"He was just lucky," a police officer said today.

Neither Mr. Burns nor Captain Dominix were believed to be seriously hurt.

Searchers speculated today that bodies were hidden beneath the heaving hunks of ice.

RCMP officers and volunteers searched the ground today as heavy seas continued to slam ashore. The Canadian Coast Guard cutter Narwhal was in the area and an armed forces helicopter was also searching.

Mr. Burns, who lives in nearby New Waterford, finally reached a house, but there was trouble with the area telephones and he had to travel another five miles to call for help.

Advanced Soviet Weapons May Be Handed To Egypt

BEIRUT (AP) — President Anwar Sadat gave a broad hint today that the Soviet Union will supply advanced weapons enabling Egypt to make deep penetration raids against Israeli cities.

The Egyptian leader told a special session of the national congress of the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's only political organization, that concentrated efforts he ahead "to master the new and advanced weapons."

These efforts became imperative, he said, as a result of the U.S. decision to supply Israel with more Phantom fighter-bombers.

Sadat also told the congress his Feb. 2 trip to the Soviet Union "brought great successes in the way of mutual understanding and analysis of developments."

He indicated the Soviets have promised to supply Egypt with more weapons when he said: "We carry arms and we shall carry more arms," and again when he said: "We have to add to our forces to insure the enemy pays much more than

ANWAR SADAT ... to strike hard

have to pay in the coming battle."

"We must be prepared for great losses, but we will inflict greater losses on the enemy, deep penetration losses should our country be hit in this way," he said.

This indicated he was promising weapons which would enable him to strike at Israeli cities far from the front line.

Details of his discussions in Moscow, he went on, will come out in secret sessions of the congress Thursday.

The 1,541-member congress was called into session, Sadat said, "to think and discuss and decide together" what course Egypt should follow in the next few months.

Sadat's speech was broadcast across the Middle East by Cairo radio.

STATE OF CANADA SPEECH

Election Steam Hisses In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — In a pre-election atmosphere, a new session of Parliament begins Thursday with an expected state-of-the-nation-type throne speech that will give Canadians an encouraging view of the future of their country.

The speech will also outline some of the legislation scheduled to come before Parliament—some of it new, some of it in the form of left-overs—which the government feels will bring Canada closer toward a just society.

With the opposition scenting an election, it could be a stormy parliamentary period ahead.

But the government is not expected to aggravate the situation by introducing unnecessary contentious bills.

Some of the more controversial bills left over from last session, including Labor Code amendments and a measure to regulate business competition, are unlikely to return in their former state, and probably not before the expected election.

The throne speech, which traditionally outlines legislation to come before Parliament, is expected to concentrate more on the state of Canada and hopes for its future. Some cabinet ministers are known to be announced that some of their pet projects are not being included in the speech, to be read by Governor-General Roland Michener.

CABINET ROLE CUT The speech has been prepared within Prime Minister Trudeau's office, and sources say there has been less cabinet participation than in previous years. Ministers were asked to submit legislative programs they had in mind.

Mr. Trudeau, following a tendency begun in 1970, favors using the speech as a vehicle for an over-all government view of Canada, its problems and its hopes. Bills which, in the government's view, will make Canada a better place will be outlined.

One of these bills is almost certain to be the family income security plan, which would overhaul the present family allowance scheme. It is a carry-over from the current session.

The bill to control electronic eavesdropping likely will be back, an amended version of the controversial grains stabilization bill is expected to come before the new session, and there likely will be proposed tightened regulations governing immigrants.

Depending on the long-expected study of foreign ownership in Canada, there may be legislation to establish an agency to supervise foreign capital.

There also is speculation about a new super agency to control both broadcasting and telecommunication common carriers.

HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT Some officials hope the new session will bring settlement with the provinces on a jurisdictional dispute over educational television.

'A BETTER NATION'

I'll Take 'Em, Says Bennett

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett Tuesday volunteered to take home a bag of B.C. potatoes after a Social Credit member of the B.C. legislature said the potatoes could hardly be called "pig feed."

Herb Bruch (SC—Esquimalt) warned the house that before the government decides to consider a proposition that the government initiate an advertising campaign to "buy B.C. goods," the provincial marketing board should make sure the products are good.

Premier Bennett stood up at this moment and said B.C. potatoes taste better. He then volunteered to take the potatoes home.

B.C. Equalization Contention

'Moonshine' Claims Senator

A contention by the British Columbia government that federal equalization payments to the provinces are unconstitutional "is pure moonshine," Senator Eugene Forsey said Tuesday in Ottawa. He said the law suit threatened by B.C. Attorney General Leslie Peterson has no grounds at all and is based on imagination.

Premier Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick said in Fredericton Tuesday night he was "surprised and disappointed" to hear British Columbia would challenge the federal government's equalization payments program in court. Premier Hatfield said Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia, a native of New Brunswick, "knows of our need for these equalization payments and the benefits they provide directly to the people of his native province."

France and Israel signed an agreement in Paris Tuesday under which the French government bought back the 50 Mirage jet aircraft it refused to deliver to Israel after the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. The purchase price was not given but the pact provides for the repayment by France of all sums paid by Israel for the 50 aircraft, plus seven-per-cent interest.

Canadian Ambassador Yvon Beaulieu Tuesday handed United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim a cheque for $150,000 to aid the UN fund for drug abuse control. The donation represents the first instalment of a contribution of $400,000 which Canada has pledged to the fund over a two-year period. The fund was established in April of 1971 on the recommendation of the UN's economic and social council to develop programs for the control of drug abuse and to help carry them out.

BORDABERRY... trouble looms

Wealthy landowner Juan Maria Bordaberry was confirmed Tuesday as the next president of Uruguay, making it virtually certain the country faces a new upsurge of violence from Marxist Tupamaros guerrillas. Bordaberry, 43, was the personal choice of incumbent President Jorge Pacheco Areco and has vowed to continue his hard line of no concessions to terrorists and tough security measures to stamp them out.

Lloyd George Forrester, 43, of no fixed address Tuesday was sentenced to 20 years in penitentiary after he pleaded guilty in Vancouver to charges of robbing four banks and a hardware store while on parole during the last year. Forrester, who pleaded guilty to robbing three Vancouver banks and another in Edmonton last March, also received two concurrent two-year terms for possession of a .30-calibre revolver and a shotgun.

Britain's Labor party is considering boycotting a proposed all-party parliamentary delegation to Rhodesia because Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith objects to its nominees, informed sources said Tuesday.

Columnist Jack Anderson, who has disclosed secret government documents on the India-Pakistan war, said Tuesday the United States was "on the brink of nuclear war" in that conflict. The syndicated writer also charged at a New York news conference that President Nixon and aides tried to deceive the public about how much the nation was involved in the India-Pakistan war.

Alex V. Fraser (SC-Cariboo) Tuesday in Victoria called on Liberal leader Dr. Pat McTeer to apologize for his "unfounded" and "ridiculous" statements regarding the quality of the tracks and roadbed of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Any attempt by the provincial government to dam the tributaries of the Fraser River for flood control purposes will find total opposition from the people of the Cariboo, a Social Credit member of the British Columbia legislature warned Tuesday in Victoria. Alex V. Fraser (SC-Cariboo) told the house that Recreation Minister Ken Klerman said Feb. 4 that it was necessary to build dams on tributaries of the Fraser to prevent a recurrence of the disastrous floods of 1894 and 1952.

John N. Mitchell resigned as attorney-general Tuesday in Washington to take command of President Nixon's re-election campaign. Nixon quickly tapped Richard G. Kleindienst, Mitchell's deputy and personal choice for the cabinet post. Senate liberals promised close questioning of Kleindienst, an Arizona conservative, but early indications were that his nomination as the president's top legal adviser would gain Senate confirmation.

The North Atlantic Alliance and Britain have offered to pay Malta $36.4 million a year until 1979 for the use of its military facilities, the defence secretary, Lord Carrington, said Tuesday in London. The reply of Prime Minister Dom Mintoff's government to the offer still is awaited, Carrington told the house of Lords.

President Makarios of Nicosia, Cyprus, defied the ruling Greek colonels Tuesday and said, "No power on earth is big enough to bend the resistance of Greek Cypriot Hellenism." He was addressing several thousand enthusiastic supporters, many of whom were shouting, "Down with the junta!"

A dozen countries signed a pilot anti-dumping pact Tuesday, aimed at preventing maritime pollution in the northeast Atlantic, and setting an example for other nations to follow. Foreign Minister Andreas Carsten of Norway said in Oslo the agreement was the "first example of joint comprehensive action against pollution," and involved "pollution control and prevention, research, actions, and reviewing and supervising mechanisms."

In Chapel Hill, N.C. Dr. Frank Porter Graham, 85, former president of the University of North Carolina, U.S. senator and United Nations mediator, died in hospital today following a heart seizure.

Gov. William A. Egan of Alaska Tuesday asked President Nixon to reinstate a project for paving of 205 miles of the Alaska Highway from Haines Junction, Y.T., to the Alaska border. Though Nixon said the project was cancelled last week, Egan said the link "is crucially important to Alaska's continued development and progress."

William Tetley, Quebec's minister of financial institutions, companies and co-operatives, said Tuesday in Toronto that separation would have a harmful effect on the economy of Quebec. Speaking at a dinner meeting of the Junior Board of Trade, Mr. Tetley said separation would work to the disadvantage of investors, industrialists and merchants.

British Columbia 23 federal members of Parliament shouldn't bother waiting for a spring election, but should resign now, Alex Fraser (SC-Cariboo) said Tuesday in the Victoria legislature. He said the MPs have abandoned their responsibilities to B.C. by sitting silently while equalization grants paid for by this province are used to subsidize resource giveaways and sweat shop wages in the Maritimes.

The provincial government held 38,100 non-votable shares in the Bank of B.C. in the civil service superannuation fund at the end of 1971, figures released Tuesday in Victoria by Premier W. A. C. Bennett show.

The Washington administration has been taken by surprise by a government panel's view that criminal penalties should be abolished for private use of marijuana. President Nixon's National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse has concluded that the cost to society of heavy penalties for marijuana smoking outweighs the risks of more liberal laws, reliable sources said. The panel stopped well short of recommending legalizing marijuana completely, but believes a person should be permitted to smoke it in the privacy of his home.

FREEZE-THAW CYCLE
When buying frozen goods be sure they are not piled above the freeze level line, warns the Consumers' Association of Canada. If you haven't noticed this mark it's because it is often hidden by food packages. CAC urges legislation to put a tell-tale patch on every frozen food item which will change color if the package goes through a freeze-thaw cycle.

'Madame X' Tells Inquiry Of Police Chief In Club

MONTREAL (CP) — A former prostitute told a Quebec police commission inquiry Tuesday she first met Police Chief Jacques Saulnier while he was drinking in a Montreal nightclub in 1963 or 1964.

The 32-year-old woman said that Mr. Saulnier spent two hours drinking and talking with a policeman and the owner of the establishment. She said she had seen Mr. Saulnier at the club "fairly often," about once a week or every 15 days.

The inquiry is investigating the conduct of Mr. Saulnier while he was in charge of the Montreal morality squad from 1963 to 1967.

At the request of her lawyer, the name of the witness was forbidden to be published "in her own interest" or the name, initials and addresses which might be mentioned in her testimony.

She identified a friend as the second person mentioned in a prostitution chart drawn up by a former member of the morality squad, Roch Picher.

He will be the first witness to be called when the inquiry resumes Thursday. The chart was admitted as evidence earlier Tuesday but only for identification purposes.

Mr. Picher first brought the report out in 1965 during an investigation into his conduct by the police disciplinary committee. He was subsequently fired.

Before an in camera session took place, she said she met then Capt. Saulnier in his office on Dec. 14, 1965, following a search of her apartment. It was the first time she met him alone in his office, she said.

Mr. Saulnier questioned her about a notebook found in her apartment which contained names and phone numbers. The names also appeared on the chart, she said.

Judge Roger Gosselin ruled that the rest of her testimony would be given behind closed doors when she was asked if she ever had occasion to give a policeman information on prostitution.

The witness testified under protection of the Canada Evidence Act which means her testimony can not be used against her in any subsequent criminal or civil actions.

WROTE REPORT
In earlier testimony Tuesday, Mr. Saulnier said he made a written report in early 1966 on 34 times mentioned in the four-page prostitution chart.

He said the chart contained names and addresses of persons suspected of working in a prostitution network.

When he received the chart, the contents were already known to police, he said. All those named in it except one were being watched and that was arrested later.

He added that the information in the chart had come from one prostitute.

FACELIFT FOR PARK

Sutherland Park receives a needed face-lift under a federal Manpower local initiative program and a grant of $17,006 to the Kelowna Kiwanis Club. The club hired six men under the program Monday for initial work in the park repairing existing dams, under the supervision of Bruce Sheets, James Wallace, chairman of the Kiwanis committee, on Sutherland Park development, said the work force at the park may be increased to eight or 10 men for work on

Honor Roll Announced For Kelowna Secondary

Angela Roth and Susan Lotts topped the Kelowna Secondary School junior division honor roll with straight A grades.

The girls were among nine top three students in Grades 8 to 10 in the school's second report. Sharing top three honors with Miss Roth in Grade 8 were Kim McBride and Pearl Weninger; Cynthia Roth and Sylvia Hurczak sharing the top three accolades with Miss Lotts in Grade 10.

Grade 9 top three students were Leigh Kitch and Barbara Strange, with a tie, and Edward Mansfield.

To qualify for the honor roll, a student must have a minimum of five Bs, no letter grade less than a C and no Us as work habits.

The following is a list of other honor roll students in each designated grade:

Grade 10: Karen Bieller, Bill Alder, Regina Bittner, Sandy Cundy, Lloyd Davies, Sharon Devlin, Dennis Duffy, Lori Dyck, Debbie Gillespie, Sylvia Hurczak, Debbie Komarnisky, Geri Lutz, Jackie McNair, Cathy Magel, Terry Matwyshuk, Monica Melnychuk, Lisa Morrow, Jim Nishi, Tim Pickles, Glenn

FILING TIPS

You And Your Taxes

For the benefit of readers with income tax return troubles, the Courier continues its series of tax tips from the Penitence branch of National Revenue.

This section begins with some of the most asked questions on the Canada Pension Plan.

Question: I have been advised by one of my workers that I consider myself to be an employee and that I am, therefore, required to make deductions from his pay for Canada Pension Plan and to make employer's contributions. I do not agree with him. What action should I take?

Answer: You should contact the Canada Pension Plan Office at the nearest District Taxation Office and request a ruling as to whether the worker is an employee or self-employed.

Question: My income is received by way of interest on bonds and from dividends. However I also have rental income from two houses. I feel that I should be permitted to contribute to the Canada Pension Plan on this income.

Answer: No. You cannot contribute on this type of income. Contributions to the Canada Pension Plan are based on the amount of money you earn either as an employee, or as a self-employed person. Contributions based on investment or rental income, may not be made.

Question: I will be eligible for a pension under the Old Age Security Act in 1972 and intend to apply for same. Can I continue to contribute to the Canada Pension Plan on my self-employed income until I reach 70 years of age?

Answer: The fact that you will be in receipt of a pension under the Old Age Security Act has no bearing on your liability to contribute to the Canada Pension Plan. Therefore until you reach 70 years of age you will be required to contribute to the Plan on your self-employed income.

Question: Is a disability pension under the Canada Pension Plan taxable? What about a regular pension under this plan?

Answer: Both a disability pension and a regular pension under the Canada Pension Plan are income for tax purposes.

Question: I have reached the age of 70 and have been paying into the Canada Pension Plan and therefore I should be able to draw money from the Pension Plan. Am I allowed to claim a pension even though I am self-employed?

Answer: Yes, you are now entitled to draw money from the Canada Pension Plan. The fact that you are self-employed and have other income does not affect your eligibility to claim your Canada Pension. In order to make your claim you should get in touch with your nearest Canada Pension Plan office of the Department of National Health and Welfare.

Question: I am a waitress and I receive tips as well as salary. My Canada Pension Plan contributions have been calculated on my basic salary only. I know I must report the amount of my tips as income. Will I be allowed to pay in extra-Canada Pension contributions as this would allow me to receive maximum benefits.

Answer: Yes, you may make additional Canada Pension Plan contributions based on the income you have received in tips. It will be necessary for you to use a T1 General Tax Return. You may make contributions on the additional income you have earned in tips, at the rate of 3.6 per cent.

Question: The T1 slip I received from my employer shows $4,500 earnings for the year without any Canada Pension Plan deductions. As an employee, what can I do to protect myself from an employer who has not made Canada Pension contributions on my behalf?

Answer: As soon as you become aware that deductions are not being made on your behalf you should file a formal complaint in writing with the nearest District Taxation Office. This complaint must be filed by April 30 of the year following the year in question. The District Taxation Office will take action to find out why your employer has not deducted and remitted contributions on your behalf.

Question: I am a veteran of the Second World War and am in receipt of a Disability Pension from the Department of Veterans Affairs and in addition am in receipt of salary and wages from pensionable employment. On what income do I have to contribute?

Answer: Only on the salary and wages.

25 PER CENT INCREASE SEEN

The number of telephones added last year in Rutland was about five times the provincial average, members of the Kelowna House Builders' Association learned Tuesday night.

D. W. Champion of Vernon, general manager of Okanagan Telephones, said 880 phones were added in Rutland last year, bringing the number Dec. 31 to 4,364. This was about 25 per cent more than on Dec. 31, 1970. The provincial average is about five per cent a year.

Speaking at Buffalo Bill's Restaurant, Mr. Champion outlined the history of telephones since they were invented in 1876 by Alexander Graham Bell. He offered comments on future telephones.

Sparrow Won't Run

Two men who trailed the polls in the 1968 federal election in Okanagan-Boundary riding will not be candidates in "e" next one. Dave Sparrow of Kelowna said he has decided not to run again because of his family. Alex Turner has moved from the riding. They represented the Social Credit and NDP parties respectively.

Last year the Liberals nominated MP Bruce Howard, who took the riding at the last election from the Conservatives. Bert Leboe, former Social Credit MP for Cariboo, now living in Peachland, said he would like to oppose Mr. Howard.

The Socials, NDP and Conservatives have not announced dates of nominating conventions.

Highway Report

The following is a road condition report from the Highway Department to 8:30 a.m. today:

Highway 97—wet, watch for frost heaves and deer on road.

Highway 33—wet, watch for small slides and rock on road.

Cache Creek-Kamloops—wet, good.

Fraser Canyon—rain, road wet, watch for rock and small slides.

Rogers Pass—closed, opening was expected some time today.

Allison Pass—10 inches new snow on higher levels, plowed, sanding. Watch for rock and small slides.

Princeton-Penticton—wet, good.

Osoyoos-Grand Forks—mostly bare, some icy sections, sanding.

Salmo-Creston—10 inches snow, plowing, sanding. Watch for slides and rock on road.

Blaine-Paulson—three inches snow, plowing, sanding, slushy. Use winter tires and carry chains.

Monashee—wet, some icy sections, sanding.

Yellowhead Route (Kamloops-Jasper)—three inches new snow, snowing, plowing and sanding. Was closed at Barriere this morning.

SEEN and HEARD

A cabaret-style dance planned by the Kelowna Regatta Association for Feb. 26 has been cancelled. Dave Pointon told fellow Regatta directors at a meeting Tuesday that poor ticket sales and conflict with a figure skating event the same night were the major reasons for the cancellation.

A weather disturbance this morning left the Trail area covered in snow. The snow caused power to flicker in the Kelowna area early today, said J. C. Meek, West Kootenay Power and Light manager here.

After considerable effort by curator, Mrs. John Surtees, the local museum now has its own slide projector with which to pictorially showcase city and district scenery and wildlife for the benefit of tourists and citizens alike. The machine is currently being used to screen pioneer pictures of the area.

Early morning coffee conversations aren't exactly Pulitzer-winning verbal exchanges. Discussing the weather (what else?) at a local cafe emporium today, one man remarked it must have rained all night. After some reflection on the ponderous observation, his friend nodded and replied: "Yup, must have. Everything's wet..."

The basic rate for drivers is now set at $5 per hour, effective last Jan. 1.

Contract negotiations between the union and the company began last October.

Friday Service For B. I. Foster

Funeral services will be held from The Garden Chapel Friday at 2 p.m. for B. I. Foster who died Tuesday at the age of 44.

Mr. Foster was born at Regina on Dec. 31, 1927 and came to British Columbia in 1947. He has been a resident of Winfield for the past three years.

He is survived by his wife Ivy of Winfield, also two daughters, Ivy Vivian and Heather Marie, both at home; two brothers, John of Monty Lake, B.C., and Corporal Robert Foster of St. Paul, Alberta, and his mother, Mrs. Doris Foster of Winfield.

Rev. E. Kromph will officiate. Burial will follow at Lakeview Memorial Park Cemetery.

NFU PRESIDENT

Lack Of Knowledge Is Farmers' Problem

Farmers must change their ways if they want to progress, a handful of Westbank area orchardists were told Tuesday afternoon.

"If you want to go to the moon, you don't use a Model T Ford," was the expression used by Roy Atkinson of Saskatoon, president of the National Farmers' Union. While in B.C., he attended the meeting at the Harman Road home of Charles Peschek.

"The problem is our own ignorance," he added. "But we are products of the environment."

The meeting was held in the hopes of starting a local. It would represent all types of farmers.

Mr. Atkinson sparred verbally with Ernie Malen of McCulloch Road. Mr. Malen wanted to know what the NFU had that his predecessor, the National Farmers' Council, and the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association did not have.

The council "was a debating society on farm and social issues," and had provincial affiliations, so members could not see things on a national basis. Now there are no provincial boundaries, and each local is connected directly to the national organization.

The NFU exerts pressure to back its demands. In 1966 members boycotted manufacturers of farm machinery. The president said this caused some companies to lay off employees or close plants.

He would not give the NFU membership, except to say there are 190 locals in all provinces except Quebec. The BCFGA could become a local. However, it was pointed out orchardists have to be members of this association, so making it a local would be compulsory NFU membership.

Last year, Mr. Malen said, BCFGA members picketed ships bringing produce into Vancouver. Laborers wanted to stop work, but their bosses told them not to because the BCFGA was not a union.

Mr. Atkinson replied the NFU has a federal charter giving it the same rights as any other union.

Revive Flea Market Concept Using Modular Type Booths

Directors of the Kelowna Regatta Association have accepted an offer of assistance from the Interior Council of Architects and will look into the possibility of a flea market-type mall in or near City Park during this year's Regatta.

A similar idea was tried two years ago but fell flat because, according to general manager Glen Carleton, the $75 cost of construction for each booth wasn't met by the amount of rent charged.

Besides that, he added, "The shape the booths are in now is disgusting."

Bob Turik, chairman of the Interior Council of Architects, appeared before Tuesday night's meeting of directors to explain an offer to help, free of charge, with the design of Regatta functions, and in particular, a modular-type mall.

The new design, he said, would easily allow the units to be used for several years and added to if necessary.

Regatta director-general Ev McKee, manager Glen Carleton and director Harley Oland will meet with the Downtown Businessmen's Association to discuss the new mall concept.

Also at Tuesday night's meeting, Sylvia Sullivan, director of agriculture, expressed some concern over the future of the Regatta's agricultural fair.

Support from the fruit industry and the Department of Agriculture is in doubt, said Mrs. Sullivan, who asked for assurance from the Regatta Association that improved security and equipment will be provided to alleviate a situation which last year she described as "hodge-podge."

"Right now, if the tree fruit people and the grape people pull out, all we'll be left with is an arts and crafts fair."

"There is no way that myself, older women or volunteers can keep an eye on things in that tent properly."

The agricultural portion is needed, she said, because the Regatta, which is essentially a water show, is classed as an agricultural fair.

Although some doubt was expressed as to whether added commissionaires would be able to solve the problem of sticky-fingered visitors, directors agreed to provide more security, as well as more equipment to keep the agricultural tent cooler.

In addition, the association will likely enter into discussions with various representatives of the fruit industry to see how the fair can be improved.

Regatta directors also agreed to a $700 request from the Jaycees for the handling of this year's parade. Parade chairman for 1972 is Norm Robins.

IWA Representatives Coming To Discuss Another Contract

Representatives of International Woodworkers of America locals in the southern Interior, also regional board members from western Canada, will meet in Kelowna on the weekend to make preparations for bargaining on a new two-year contract.

The present contract with the Interior Forest Labor Relations Association, representing employers, ends June 30. About 5,000 employees are involved.

A $1.14 per hour raise may be asked said Bill Schumaker of Kelowna, president of Local 1-423. Workers at the coast have asked for $1 an hour more, and the present basic rate is $3.72 per hour. In the Interior it is $3.58 per hour, so $1.14 would raise it to the same as at the coast.

About 2,000 sawmill workers got pay increases this year following completion of a job evaluation study. The study was part of the 1969 contract.

Present at the weekend meeting will be 24 delegates from Interior locals, 12 representatives from locals in western Canada who make up the regional executive board, and top union officers. The regional board meets Friday and other delegates will meet Saturday and Sunday at the Capri Motor Hotel.

Demonstrations Start Today Community Resource Centre

The ancient art of making bread will be shown today in the community resource centre, in First United Church, Bernard Avenue and Richter Street. Starting at 7 p.m., the demonstration will also include sprouting beans.

A display of weaving also will be given.

Clothing repairs and alterations will be shown Thursday in day and night classes. Making soups will be the subject of the cooking demonstration, also starting at 7 p.m.

Friday will be fun day, when ideas for making things for homes will be given. Use of soy beans will be the subject of the cooking display at night.

People will also be on hand during the night presentations to advise on home and vehicle maintenance.

The centre was opened this month to show people how to live on low incomes. Under the Local Initiatives Program, the federal government paid $18,000 to operate the centre until May.

... Snow

The weatherman predicts clouds with occasional snow for Thursday. Highs expected in the upper 30s. High and low Tuesday in the city was 38 and 29 with 2.2 inches of snow, compared with 37 and 28 with 1.3 inches for the same day at the airport. Overnight low expected today should be from 20 to 25.

BREAK-IN

Kelowna RCMP are investigating an overnight break-in at Price and Markle, on Day Avenue, in which about $50 in cash was taken from a cash register. Entry was gained by forcing a rear door.

Teen Sweetheart Hopefuls Appear At Fashion Show

RUTLAND (Staff) — Teen Town presented their candidates for teen sweetheart at a tea and fashion show in the Centennial Hall Monday night.

President Jackie Anderson opened the evening by introducing Carol Barnes, Rutland's first teen sweetheart in 1968, commentator for the fashion show.

As each girl came forward to deliver her speech she was escorted by the Spencer twins, Kevin and Christine, eight years old, to the microphone.

Most of the speeches dealt with the Valentine theme. Gloria Kraberger spoke on Valentine customs; Judy Leverrier on symbols of Valentines; May Ann Vandergulik on friendship; Molly Pearce on hearts; Dale Ewen on smiles; Karen Tietz on what is a kiss; Debbie Zimmer, on cupid; Allison Anderson on grass hockey.

Men's fashions were modelled by Ken Bartel, Ken Angus, Reed Posser and Norman Miller.

A new category was introduced, Miss Congeniality. It was won by Dale Ewen, chosen by her fellow contestants.

Present sweetheart Carol Peters gave her farewell speech and thanks to everyone who had made her year so memorable. Miss Anderson presented her with a bouquet, and thanked her for her good work during the year. Fred Mallach played the music and the Lady Lions were hostesses.

Judges for the contest are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stevens and Mrs. R. C. Lucas. The successful candidate will be named at the ball Friday night.

Clubs Planned For Westbank

WESTBANK (Special) — Two classes for senior citizens are starting in Westbank on Feb. 17 at 9:30 a.m. in the Westbank Community Hall. They are sewing and wood carving and offer an opportunity for all senior citizens to come out and air their ideas and views for a Senior Citizens' Club in Westbank. The classes are free.

Seven youngsters have indicated a desire to form a 4-H Lamb Club in Westbank. The required number to form a club is 10 or more, so any more interested young people should phone Mrs. K. McIntosh at 768-5697 for further information.

The young people of Westbank had a very active 4-H Club here a few years ago and entered their stock in the Armstrong Fair with some good results.

Oyama Anglican Guild Meeting

OYAMA (Special) — The February meeting of St. Mary's Anglican Church Guild was held at the home of Mrs. A. Utke with 11 members present.

Plans were started for the annual spring tea and bazaar, and will be finalized at the next meeting.

Following the business section of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held March 6.

WORLD BRIEFS

DRAFT FOR WOMEN

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's sole woman cabinet member, Mrs. Eisha Rateb, has recommended that women be drafted "to enable them to take part in defending their homeland side by side with men," newspaper reports said.

WOMEN STEAL

JOHANNESBURG — South Africa (AP) — Judge O. J. Coetzee says his court has convicted at least one person of shoplifting every day during the last two years and most have been white women.

BIRTH CURBS

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP) — A family planning association says facilities offering sterilization procedures for men and women will be opened soon in an attempt to cut the birth rate.

NUN HONORED

QUEBEC (CP) — Celebrations are to be held here throughout 1972 to mark the 300th anniversary of the death of Marie de l'Incarnation, founder and first mother superior of the Ursuline order in Quebec, who died April 30, 1672. Special events are also planned for her native town of Tours, France.

POST OFFICE BRIGHTER

RUTLAND (Staff) — The Rutland Post Office will be a brighter place to do business in the future. Tenders are being called to improve lighting throughout the building.

Special Night For Kinsmen

RUTLAND — The general meeting of the Kinsmen Club of Rutland marked the celebration of founders' night. Special guests were Kelowna Kinsmen Ray Busch and Monte DeMara and a former Rutland Kinsman, Ralph Crittenden, now of Burns Lake.

A toast to the ladies was given by Jim Roberts with a reply by Mary Tereposky. The Kinsmen Club was toasted by Alf Tereposky and was replied to by Bill Stockand.

Morris Piddocke reported on a recent interclub visit to Summerland by several club members. Casey Wood reported on a luncheon held in Kelowna in honor of national president William Watson.

Trev Miller gave an interim report on the Mothers' March Campaign. On the basis of returns in so far it would appear there will be a substantial increase over last year.

The Kinsmen presented a birthday cake to the Kinettes who will be celebrating their second anniversary very soon.

GRIT CONVENTION SLATED FOR APRIL

Members of the North Okanagan Liberal Association will gather April 12 in Vernon's National Hotel to select a candidate for the next provincial election.

Organizers of the nominating convention hope to have provincial Liberal leader, Dr. Patrick McGeer, or another provincial Liberal MLA address the gathering.

The riding is represented provincially by Social Credit MLA, Pat Jordan, minister without portfolio.

Jumping Off The Fence Over Cultural Grants

By BETHEL STEELE

Usually I stay on the fence when it comes to political issues. But since the provincial government, in some cases, insists in doling out the B.C. Cultural Fund on a per-capita basis, which is straight political boon-doggling if I have ever seen it, I am running a slow boil over this year's distribution of the fund to non-profit cultural organizations and the lack of assistance in some other areas of need. The latter is a column all by itself so we will leave that for a later time.

First and foremost in my mind is the Vancouver Symphony which deservedly received the lions share. But where are the funds for the orchestra to come out into the province? We are taxpayers here too, Mr. Murray. Since one of the publicity blurbs insists on calling or at least used to the symphony B.C.'s own, how about letting B.C. at large hear it? The federal government sends out its bands, so why not B.C. its fine orchestra?

Perhaps I am splitting hairs but I do know that grants usually are entailed to the largest number of people possible may participate. And that includes listening as well as participation. Another thing, tours mean more work for the musicians.

This all leads into my next grumble—the wide discrepancy in the grant of $46,000 to Shawinigan Lake Summer School for its second season and that of $13,000 to the Vancouver Junior Symphony, out of which last Courtenay Summer Camp must take some $2,000 to $3,000 and that after several years in operation on a shoe string with B.C. musicians giving their time at the camp for very little or nothing leaving the way for Shawinigan to undercut Courtenay as to fees for already approached teachers. My interest lies in Courtenay since several of our Valley children have attended the camp and benefited from the experience.

To make matters worse Okanagan Summer School after more than a decade of operation gets only $2,000 and the Okanagan Symphony Orchestra $2,400. The latter really does make me boil since the orchestra should have funds made available to commission music from Valley composers or other B.C. composers for that matter and to be able to pay several first desk professional musicians in order to raise the standard of performance.

These are only some of my B.C. Cultural Fund beefs and when it comes to Canada Council grants my ire knows no bounds. But that is another story quite apart.

Now, to a very important Kelowna doing. Community Concerts campaign begins Feb. 27 with what is called a kick-off dinner. Workers are out now with their renewal kits, but more are needed... that is workers please. If there is anyone in the district interested in helping out in this capacity please get in touch with Mrs. Marjorie Denroche, phone 2-5264. Also campaign headquarters helpers are needed and any one wanting this job may also phone Mrs. Denroche.

A fine series has been planned for next season opening with the Texas Boys Choir. The choir program, Benjamin Britten's wonderful Ceremony of the Carols; a modern Mother Goose Suite and other contemporary music such as that from well known American musical comedies.

The other two holds are Ciro and His Spanish Ballet and the Ronnie Kale Trio, who uphold the New Orleans Jazz tradition.

There is a movement afoot to try for Marek Jablonski, the Canadian pianist who walked into all our hearts at his recent Kelowna concert for the fourth concert for CC. How about it all you people... the powers that be say you do not bring back an artist to community to years in succession. I say balderdash. When an artist is as fine as Marek Jablonski only one side of all the facets of musical artistry can be shown at one time. He plays Chopin as only one of Polish origins can. It would be heaven to hear the Preludes complete or all the great Etudes. He says he does them that way. Anyway, make your voices heard CC members who heard the pianist. We might as well all stand up and be counted. There is power in numbers. Don't forget, renew CC memberships now.

Research Council Needed 'To Aid Small Businesses'

VICTORIA (CP) — A Social Credit member of the British Columbia legislature called Tuesday for the establishment of a small business research council in the province to assist small businesses.

Don Marshall (SC — South Peace River) said the department of industry, trade and commerce should set up such a council as well as provide for a B.C. marketing commissioner.

"Small businesses require assistance and incentives of a self-help nature," he told the house. He said large companies can afford to do research into ways of saving money but the small business has only a limited amount of capital to work with and such research often ends in bankruptcy.

The marketing commissioner, he said, would set the stage for greatly improved and increased sales of B.C. manufactured products and B.C.'s agricultural products.

Mr. Marshall said a minimum of $50 million should be set aside for an agriculture trade mission, "for what our agricultural industry requires is mini-trade fairs abroad."

The Social Credit member also complained that the federal government, contrary to his demands, has indicated that the South Peace River area will not be given any money under the federal special area incentives program.

He said it would appear that "there is a deliberate design by Ottawa to depress this area."

Mr. Marshall also commented on the recent report that President Nixon said he has notified Canada that the U.S. has abandoned plans to join Canada in the paving of the Alaska Highway between Dawson Creek and the Alaska border.

"This project is of the utmost importance to the development of the northwestern section of Canada," he said.

Mr. Marshall said communities like Chetwynd, Dawson Creek, Pouce Coupe, Fort St. John and Fort Nelson find themselves in the "ridiculous situation" where Canada refuses to tackle the paving project without U.S. support and B.C. refuses to touch it without federal support.

"Do the federal and provincial governments intend the communities I have just mentioned to sit and rot from the lack of development of these most necessary communication links?" he asked.

A HAPPY EVENT was the enrolment of three new guides at the First Glenmore Guide Company by Captain Sheila Cameron, on the left and her

honored by the presentation of a 10-year service bar by District No. 4 Guide Commissioner, Mrs. P. A. Leach. The evening with a good turnout of mothers for a dessert and coffee social included presentation of other awards, plus games and singings. —(Courier Photo)

Gold Cord And 10 Year Pin Awarded At Guide Meet

A gold cord presentation and a 10 year service bar were two of the highlights of the mother and daughter dessert and coffee party hosted Monday night in the Glenmore Elementary school by the First Glenmore Guide Company.

The occasion was a surprise for Marnie Henshaw who received her gold cord from Kelowna District No. 4 Guide Commissioner, Mrs. P. A. Leach. This is the highest honor a guide can earn and since this award has been phased out, it was the last one to be presented in this company.

The 10 year service bar was presented to Guide Captain, Sheila Cameron for her dedication to the girls' movement during the past decade.

During the special ceremony honoring Marnie Henshaw, a guard of honor escorted her through the steps of achievement. Guards were Wendy Lind, Shelley Simons, Dagmar Wanke, Laura Lee Semenchuk, Terri Beaulieu, Leslie Collins, Trudy Crane, Carrie Morrison, Carol Schurr, Kathy Rees, Sheryl Ramsell, Joanne Sperle and Dana Delcourt. They briefly outlined some of the test work involved in earning a gold cord.

New guides enrolled during the evening were Karen Henderson, Wendy Lind and Gail Shaw.

Badges and emblems earned and awarded were: baker—Dana Delcourt, Joanne Sperle, Dagmar Wanke, Laura Lee Semenchuk; child care—Leslie Collins; homemaker—Joanne Sperle; laundress—Joanne Sperle; Little House Emblems—Dana Delcourt, Joanne Sperle; skier—Marcella LeBlanc and Terri Beaulieu; skater—Sheryl Ramsell, Dagmar Wanke, Laura Clark, Kathy Rees, Carrie Morrison, Laura Lee Semenchuk; physical fitness—Carrie Morrison, Kathy Rees, Terri Beaulieu; service stars—Laura Lee Semenchuk, three years; Shelley Simons, three years; Janice Semenchuk, six years.

Patrol Leaders' stripes were presented to Laura Lee Semenchuk and Terri Beaulieu and second's stripes, lanyards and whistles to Dagmar Wanke, Sheryl Ramsell, Leslie Collins and Carrie Morrison.

Invited guests included Mrs. Ronald Roth, Glenmore Parent Committee president; Mrs. Louie Trozzo, Brown Owl 2nd Glenmore Pack; Mrs. George Bradley, deputy district commissioner and Mrs. Casey Wood.

Games, refreshments and campfire songs and a skit completed the evening's program.

ANN LANDERS

Dancing Husbands Must Be Shared

Dear Ann Landers: Our fraternal organization has a dinner dance every other month. We have a problem with four or five husbands who can't dance, won't dance, or are recovering from a prostate operation or a slipped disc and shouldn't dance.

The wives of these men seem to think it's perfectly all right to ask other men to dance with them—which of course means the man's wife is left sitting.

Last night I sat out five dances because women came over and asked my husband to dance. When I told Harry I didn't care for that kind of an evening, he said: "That's the way the cookie crumbles." Isn't it a husband's duty to see to it that his wife has a good time rather than some other female?

—Hopping Mad
Dear Hopping: That train runs both ways, honey. Your husband apparently enjoys dancing with these dames so you might as well be gracious about it. Who knows when Harry will be the ruptured duck and you'll want to borrow a husband?

Dear Ann Landers: My son has had stomach trouble since he was nine years old. Roy is 16 now and it has gotten progressively worse. Maybe hypnosis is the answer. Medical doctors haven't done him one bit of good. The poor kid has been through every test imaginable and has tried all kinds of medicine and diets. It's a known fact that people who are sensitive and conscientious are susceptible to stomach trouble. If they could be made to relax, couldn't that be the key?

How do I find a hypnotist who is qualified for medical treatment? How much do they charge?—Andea

Dear Andea: I'm not about to guide you to a hypnotist for stomach trouble. Didn't one of those medical doctors suggest that perhaps the boy has an emotional problem? If not, I am suggesting it. Now you can take it from there.

Dear Ann Landers: I work for the American Cancer Society. My office faces the street and I can look out the window and see people as they do their shopping, hurrying from one place to another. During the holidays I saw hundreds of parents laden with expensive toys. They wanted to make their youngsters happy. How strange and ironic that these same parents who would probably spend their last cent on a gift don't realize that the best gift a parent can give a child is himself—his time, love and understanding. When this is missing, no other gift can take its place.

How many parents who smoke have been asked by their children to stop, yet they refuse. How many of these parents will die prematurely from lung cancer caused by cigarettes? If these parents have no regard for their own lives they might at least consider what it means to their children.—L.S., Waukegan, Wis., Unit, American Cancer Society.

Dear L.S.: You took the words out of my mouth. Thanks for writing.

Bridal Attendants Participate In Miscellaneous Bridal Shower

WESTBANK (Special) — A miscellaneous bridal shower was held for Sheila Glogowski on Sunday afternoon in the Anglican Parish Hall in Westbank. The hostesses were Jennifer Beet, Mrs. Joyce Smith and Mrs. Carol Clements.

The guest of honor arrived and was seated between her mother, Mrs. L. Glogowski, and her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Pierce. The latter having come from Penticton with her daughter, a secondary for the occasion. The three were presented with corsages which had been made by Jennifer Beet. Other out-of-town people attending the shower were: Mrs. Eileen Rossol and her daughter Pamela from Rutland. Pamela is to be flower girl at the wedding. Two guests attending from Kelowna were Mrs. Sheila Brodie and Mrs. R. G. Robertson.

The little flower girl assisted the unwrapping ceremony by handing the packages to the bride-to-be. The lovely gifts were handed around for all to see. A conversational gift was a doll which had been made by Mrs. Maurice Rolke. It had spoon arms and mop hair, a painted sponge face, a dish cloth shirt trimmed with ribbons, and pearls, a body holder and the body was made of spoons and a gold metal pot scrubber.

A cake cutting ceremony followed the gift viewing. Sheila all arrayed in her conventional bonnet which had been made by her mother of honor, Joyce Smith, cut the beautifully decorated cake while Jennifer Beet and Mrs. Rolke took pictures. Sheila thanked all her friends and relatives for the lovely shower.

Mrs. Brian Manderson was in charge of the guest-gift book. The wedding is to take place on Saturday, in Kelowna.

KDRS Celebrate St. Valentine's

Members of the Kelowna and District Retirement Service celebrated St. Valentine's Day on Saturday in First United Church hall with a variety in program to meet the needs of all retired citizens.

Progressive whist was enjoyed by 80 members, while others were taken on an arm chair tour of the Rocky Mountains through colored slides shown by Dan Mathers.

Prize winners for the Progressive whist were presented by Mrs. Herbert Graham, ladies' first prize going to Mrs. Clara Forsberg, men's first to Lucien Guilbault, while consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. Beth Wozniakoski and John Osterberg.

KDRS choir, under the direction of Louie Lehman with Mrs. William Kipp at the piano, sang several numbers in keeping with St. Valentine's Day. The previous week KDRS honored Robbie Burns' birthday with Scottish songs rendered by David Wood.

On Feb. 19 colored slides of Australia and New Zealand will be shown at 1:15 p.m. sharp by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Brodie who have just recently returned from a winter vacation in those two countries.

Prairie Wedding For Kelowna Man

A wedding of interest to friends in the Kelowna district was solemnized by Monsignor A. Roy in St. Anne's Roman Catholic Church in Gull Lake, Sask., when Marilyn Louise Cutting of Duncan, B.C., and John Wayne Hemmley of MacKenzie, B.C., were united in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall J. Cutting of Gull Lake and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hemmley of Kelowna, who with their daughter Linda, travelled to Saskatchewan for the ceremony.

HITHER and YON

Thirty-two members of the Kelowna Jayettes and Jaycees enjoyed a mixed curling party at Mountain Shadows on Saturday night. Many of the participants had never curled before so received many pointers while in the hack, during the fun night. All rinks were skipped by distaff members and winners were: A event, Mrs. Craig Baker; B event, Mrs. Floyd Lillies. Following the games they all gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Claus for a sumptuous turkey dinner. Prizes were awarded for the curling.

Mrs. Dorothy White, wife of the late Judge D. M. White, who has been convalescing at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Buchanan, has returned to her home on Lakeshore Road. Another sister, Mrs. Mona Fisher from Saskatoon is expected to stay with her for a few weeks.

Mrs. George Wambke of Okanagan Mission, who is serving as president of the Nelson diocese of the Catholic Women's League was guest speaker at a banquet at Osoyoos Knights of Columbus in honor of 10 charter members. Mass preceded the banquet, during which tributes were paid to the honorees who had served the parish for 25 years as members of the CWL.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hill of Kelowna left for Regina, Sask., to attend the funeral of the former's father, W. H. A. Hill. The 93-year-old pioneer businessman was the founder of the McCallum-Hill realty business, which is carried on by a son Fred. Another son Robert lives in North Vancouver.

THE OLD TIN CAN
In preparing material for recycling, the Consumers' Association of Canada reminds consumers that tinned steel and aluminum cans used for beverages should be kept separate from regular food cans. Paper labels must be taken off, the ends of the cans removed, and the can itself crushed flat. Aerosol cans present special problems and possible danger, and should be excluded from any returned can mix.

AVOID LIGHT
Avoid light in storing milk as it destroys an important vitamin B, riboflavin.

ACCOMPLISHMENT

Marnie Henshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henshaw, beams with excitement as she receives the gold cord from District No. 4 Guide Commissioner, Mrs. P. A. Leach. The gold cord, the highest award a guide can earn, is being phased out, to be replaced by the Canadian.

consequently Marnie's excitement stems from the long delay in obtaining the cord for presentation. The presentation was a surprise during a mother and daughter evening. Marnie will be among the many guides, brownies, cubs, scouts, rangers and venturers who will start Thinking Week in commemoration of the founder, Lord Baden Powell on Sunday at a joint celebration in the Kelowna Community Theatre.—(Courier Photo)

GAGLIARDI REPORTS

Alliance Finds 30,000 Jobs

VICTORIA (CP) — Rehabilitation Minister Phil Gagliardi said Tuesday the Provincial Alliance of Businessmen found 30,000 new jobs last year.

The minister told the legisla- ture during his contribution to budget speech debate this was "a record number that certainly is commendable."

Of the 30,000, Mr. Gagliardi said, 80 per cent were full-time occupations. He said the alliance, a government employ- ment agency he created, finds an average of 114 jobs every day.

The minister also questioned the news judgement of Vanco- ver newspapers saying that when Prime Minister Trudeau flew out here recently from Ot- tawa at the taxpayers' expense, held a fund-raising drive and then went skiing "with his beautiful B.C. bride," the press thought was all right and gave the prime minister only slight mention.

However, he said at the time when Mr. Trudeau was here on the taxpayers' expense, one Vancouver paper chose to make a big story out of the mysterious "Miss Crease," said to have travelled with Mr. Gagliardi in his government aircraft.

The women was later identi- fied as 21-year-old Beverly Kriese, who works in the Kam- bopis office of the alliance.

Voodoos Take Strong Lead KSS Owls Behind Eight-Ball

Rutland Voodoos put Kelowna Owls behind the eight-ball, and Oliver Hornets had little to do with it besides letting themselves be used.

Voodoos trounced Hornets, last place team in the division, 60-39 to bring their record to 8-2 and leave Owls a tough task if they want to take the senior boys' AA basketball league crown.

Voodoos meet Owls Friday night in a key game at Kelowna at 8 p.m. Owls have another tough game Saturday night against third place Penitence Lakers, while Voodoos go back against Hornets. Owls have three games left this season, with Owls having three.

Voodoos toyed with Hornets for the first quarter, leading 16-4, but started to move out in front in the second, taking a 25-19 lead into the second half. Voodoos opened a commanding 48-28 lead after the third stanza.

Ken Angus led the Voodoo scoring attack with 21 points, with a 12-point aid in Dennis Wolfe and 10 more from Darryl Weninger. Bill Reddis was the game's top scorer, with 22 points.

Rutland's junior boys' team, which has been playing senior basketball this season, went against the top junior team in the Valley and handed Oliver a 51-37 setback, their first loss of the season.

Voodoos trailed 22-20 after the first half but got untracked in the second portion of the game to take the lead and win going away. Benny Schindler led the attack with 12 points.

Leaders Expecting Trouble In Upcoming World Cup Meet

OFF, Alta. (CP) — Anne-Marie Proell of Austria and Henri Duillard of France, leaders on the World Cup skiing circuit, are expected to have trouble retaining first place in the series when it resumes Thursday.

Women's and men's special and giant slaloms are to be held until Saturday on the steep slopes of Mount Norquay, but the leaders' weakness lies in the fact that their speciality is scheduled for this meet.

Miss Proell has one serious challenger to face—Françoise Macchi of France, second with 157 points, just 16 behind the 18-year-old Austrian. Isabelle Mörz of France trails with 73 points in third place.

Duillard, however, has several challengers, notably second-place Jean-Noel Augert, also of France. With 194 points, Augert is only three behind Duillard and he's considered one of the best slalom skiers in the world.

Third place is wide open. It is held by Austria's Karl Schranz, the three-time world champion who was banned from the Winter Olympics at Sapporo, Japan, because of alleged commercialism. He announced his retirement from all competition Tuesday in Vienna.

Gustavo Thoeni of Italy, winner of the gold medal for his giant slalom performance at Sapporo, is fourth with 67 points and although his World Cup performance has been late developing, it's felt he'll pick up enough points to overtake Schranz.

Major Confrontation Expected Between Men In Singles Event

A major confrontation is expected at the B.C. Badminton Championships at the Kelowna Badminton Club Hall this weekend in the men's singles event.

The tourney, to start Friday at 5 p.m. in the hall at the corner of Gaston and Richter, will pit defending provincial open and Canadian closed champion Bruce Rollick of Vancouver against six-time Canadian champion Wayne MacDonnell, also of Vancouver.

Rollick defeated MacDonnell in the third set of the provincial final last year, but was knocked out by MacDonnell in the semi-final of the Canadian open championship.

Rollick got his knicks in when he trimmed MacDonnell in the Canadian closed final. Rollick is also the only Canadian to win men's singles in the Canadian open event in the last 15 years, achieving that mark against some of the best competitors in North America several years ago.

Mike Epstein, 19, of Vancouver is the only other competitor expected to put a wedge in the Rollick-MacDonnell monopoly. Epstein is one of the top junior badminton players in Canada and is expected to put on a good showing against the talented veterans.

Judy Rollick, wife of Bruce, made it a husband-wife sweep last year as she won the ladies singles provincial title. She is the favorite in the three-day tourney, with trouble expected from Jane Youngberg of Vancouver.

Youngberg has been coming on strong this season in tournament play, and has defeated Rollick already this year.

The men's doubles event has been labelled wide open, with Rollick and Rolf Patterson strong contenders for the crown. MacDonnell and Cam Dacleish are another strong pair, with Bud Dobson and Bert Ferguson of Vancouver also strong.

Ferguson is a veteran of championship play and has won Canadian titles in singles competition, men's doubles and mixed doubles.

Judy Rollick and Mami Neilsson are defending champions in ladies doubles, with top contenders listed in Barb Nash and Youngberg, Allison Ridgeway and Sandra Stevenson and finally Sue Kolb and Sue Truscott.

Neilsson and Patterson will be back to defend their mixed title, as they won the provincial honors then went on to take the Canadian closed title. Youngberg and Bruce Rollick are teamed up for the first time to give them strong competition.

Ches Larson of Kelowna and Bill Dalin of Kamloops are listed as favorites to take the senior men's doubles title. Gene Young and Gordon Smetanuk of Vancouver are rated the top contenders for the title.

A Kelowna man-woman team, Bob and Louise Brooks, rank high in the listing for senior mixed competition. The mixed competition has a small number of competitors.

The winners of events and other top competitors will travel to Toronto for the Canadian championship March 9-12.

The competition is expected to draw more than 85 athletes from all points of B.C. The finals of the events will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday. There will be no admission charged.

Oil Kings Are Determined To Succeed In Comeback Try

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was obvious that Edmonton Oil Kings were determined to make a comeback.

The former champions of the Western Canada Hockey League had slipped to third place in the western division but rebounded Tuesday night to tie for second—and in winning they scored five consecutive goals in the third period to break a tie.

Edmonton downed Winnipeg Jets 8-4 and in other games Regina Pats beat Medicine Hat Tigers 6-3, Saskatoon Blades defeated Swift Current Broncos 5-4 and Flin Flon Bombers trounced Brandon Wheat Kings 4-2.

The Oil King victory gave them 66 points in a tie with New Westminster Bruins; nine points behind Calgary Centennials. Edmonton has four games in hand over New Westminster.

Brian Ogilvie scored three goals for the winners, playing at home, and Henry Van Druen added two while Darcy Rota scored one plus five assists as Edmonton's second line produced the club's first six goals of the game. Marcel Comeau and Terry Smith scored the others.

Dynamiters Trip Cranbrook Royals

KIMBERLEY (CP) — Kimberley Dynamiters, led by three consecutive goals from Aurel Benjamin in the third period, came from behind to down Cranbrook Royals 5-2 in Western International Hockey League action Tuesday night.

More than 1,400 fans saw the Dynamiters lead 1-0 at the end of the first period on a goal by Dick Vincent, but Billy Martin scored a pair of unanswered goals in the second for the Royals.

Benjamin's hat trick came on goals at 6:19, 9:25 and 9:19 of the third with Adrian Blaise adding the fifth Kimberley goal.

The Dynamiters took seven of the 13 penalties. Each team picked up one 10-minute misconduct.

Gordie Ed Babink of Kimberley stopped 32 shots and Phil Hendley of Cranbrook made 29 saves.

The win moved the Dynamiters into a second-place tie with the Royals and Nelson Maple Leafs, each with 39 points. Last-place Trail Smoke Eaters have 22.

Spokane Jets have already clinched their fifth straight league championship and have 61 points.

REMEMBER WHEN

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

England's first Olympic hockey championship was assured 36 years ago today—in 1936—when Canada beat the United States 1-0 at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany. England, with six Canadians on the team, had previously beaten Canada 1-0 and played a scoreless tie with the Americans.

Johnson Is Still Worried Blue Shirts Gaining

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston Bruins have won 40 of their 37 games played so far this season in the National Hockey League, and tied nine. They also have a comfortable eight-point lead in the East Division over New York Rangers.

But coach Tom Johnson is still worried.

The Bruins dumped California Golden Seals 6-3 Tuesday night and extended their home unbeaten streak to 23 games. Why then is Johnson worried?

His team is embarking on a six-game road trip and that is what has the Boston coach uneasy. He considers that trip "crucial."

"You bet your life it is," Johnson said Tuesday night after his Bruins disposed of the Seals before the usual sellout crowd at the Boston Garden.

"New York is still close enough to run right up our backs and we can't afford to lose any hockey games right now," Johnson said. "There's still a way to go in this race."

New York apparently feels the same way too. The Rangers downed Vancouver Canucks 5-1 Tuesday night to stay within range of the Bruins. In another game, Chicago Black Hawks edged St. Louis Blues 3-2.

Tonight, California visits Montreal Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs meet the Penguins in Pittsburgh, Detroit Red Wings are at Minnesota against the North Stars, Philadelphia Flyers are at Chicago and St. Louis visits Los Angeles Kings.

Defence man Bobby Orr picked up four assists in the first period to lead the Bruins to their victory over the Seals. The victory moved the Bruins within five games of tying the NHL record for the longest home-ice unbeaten string. Montreal set the mark of 28 in the 1943-44 season.

"We aren't thinking of any records, we're just trying to win games," Johnson said.

Orr's blistering shots set up goals by Johnny Bucyk and Derek Sanderson in the first 4½ minutes. Sanderson got another goal later while Mike Walton also collected two goals, his 20th and 21st, with the help of rebounds of Orr shots. Orr now has 62 assists, tops in the league.

FORMER BRUINS SCORE

Two former Bruins figured in the scoring for the Seals, Wayne Carleton got California's second goal in the second period and Ivan Boldirev got the third Seal goal in the third. Gary Croteau was the other California scorer.

Defenceman Don Awrey, who suffered a broken ankle in Boston's last home loss to Montreal in early November, is expected to return to action Thursday night in Philadelphia against the Flyers, the first game in Boston's road trip.

Jean Ratelle, enjoying one of his most productive seasons, scored three goals—his 37th, 38th and 39th—in pacing the Rangers to their win over the Canucks.

Ratelle scored the first two New York goals, his first coming at the 13-second mark of the game when he knocked in Rod Gilbert's rebound. His second came in the final minute of the second period when he scored on the short side from 20 feet. His final goal was in an empty net when Vancouver pulled goalie Dunc Wilson for a sixth attacker.

Ratelle's three goals gave him 94 points, one fewer than scoring leader Phil Esposito of Boston who earned only an assist in Boston's win.

Bobby Schumatz scored Vancouver's goal, tying the score 1-1 early in the second period, but New York came back with four unanswered goals—three of them in the third period.

Funk Wins Snowmobile Event Places In Two Other Races

Ab Funk figured in three races, winning one of them to lead a Kelowna contingent in the B.C. Snowmobile championships at Tillicum raceway recently.

Funk, aboard a Chaparell, won one of the events as he streaked home first in the modified trophy dash.

He piloted his Chaparell to a second place finish in the modified 440 A-main, behind Bill Carlson of Calgary in his Polaris. Funk placed fourth in the modified 650 A-main, behind a pair of Prince George drivers and one from Vernon, Del.

Anderson won the event in a Polaris, with Don Nordstrom second in a Ski-Doo and Don Holweg of Vernon third, in another Ski-Doo.

L. Webster of Kelowna also came into the prize money, with a first place finish in the stock 340 A-main event in his Arctic Cat. One other Kelowna driver placed in the stock events, with G. Sherstobitoff winning the stock 440 D-main event.

Al Horning of Rutland placed in the modified 340 C-main event, winning the award in an Arctic Cat. L. Bulach of Kelowna got into the money in the modified 440 A-main, placing fourth in his Ski-Doo.

The best Kelowna efforts in the modified 800 A-main was a seventh place finish by Herman Graf in a Ski-Doo and Don Holweg's eighth place finish, also on a Ski-Doo.

Eric Tucker of Vernon won the modified 800 A-main on a Ski-Doo, followed by Don Stinn, also on a Ski-Doo and also of Vernon.

Robin Reeb of Kamloops won the juniors' event, on a Ski-Doo, ahead of another Ski-Doo piloted by R. Kaline of Salmon. Jim Noble of Wenatchee, Wash., won the modified 300 A-main title on a Sno Jet, while D. Braithwaite of Kamloops placed second in the event on a Sno Jet.

Ecuador Military Chiefs Send President To Exile

QUITO (AP) — Ecuador's military chiefs ousted President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra Tuesday night for the fourth time in his career and sent him off to Panama. The purpose of the coup apparently was to prevent the election of a radical to the presidency.

BCHIS And An Architect Have A 'Sweetheart' Deal

VICTORIA (CP) — Alberni MLA Dr. Howard McDiarmid Tuesday called for the immediate termination of a "sweetheart arrangement" between the construction department of the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service and an unnamed architect.

The Social Credit MLA told the B.C. legislature the regional district of Comox - Strathcona met stiff resistance from the BCHIS to construct flexible, pre-fabricated medical units in the communities of Tahsis and Gold River on Vancouver Island.

He said the BCHIS suggested a conventional medical building would cost only $100,000 more than the "bamboo and rice paper" building the district was recommending.

The district was asked to inspect the conventional medical facilities built at Mount Waddington on Vancouver Island and were directed to a particular architect. The MLA said the district was not impressed.

Dr. McDiarmid said the architect told the district's representatives his plans for the Mount Waddington facilities were not for sale but his office was ready to provide professional services to the district.

The Alberni MLA charged this was "just another rip-off" at the expense of the taxpayer.

SEEK NEW GOALS

MONTREAL (CP) — J. W. G. Macdougall, executive vice-president of the CNR, says railway management should try to work with unions to find new ways to bargain and new things to bargain about. Under present conditions "after months of arbitration, conciliation and confrontation... the union member gets less than he expected in terms of real wages and the company gets almost nothing in terms of increased productivity."

FIGURE BACKFIRED

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — A speech designed to show that city council members are underpaid backfired on Ald. Emma Bearss. She figured that taking the total number of hours worked during 1971 and dividing it into her $3,600 salary, she made only 78 cents an hour. Later it was pointed out she had misplaced a decimal point and the figure was really $7.80.

Lara, who was rewarded with command of the army after putting down an attempt to overthrow Velasco last April, declared himself president.

The presidential election is scheduled for June, and Velasco, now 78, had promised to hand over his office Aug. 31 to whoever was elected. The candidate of the radical Concentration of Popular Forces, Assad Bucaram, was believed certain to defeat the conservative candidate, Carlos Arizaga Vega.

Velasco learned that the bloodless coup was under way Tuesday night and flew to Guayaquil on the coast, where he tried to broadcast to the country. But navy officers arrested him before he could get to the microphone and held him incommunicado until they put him aboard a military plane for Panama.

In a 13-point announcement, the new president put the country under a state of siege and martial law, closed the schools, banned demonstrations, imposed a 9 p.m.-4 a.m. curfew, forbade transmission of news "liable to disturb the public peace and the citizenry," and put all public services under military rule.

He said the coup was necessary because of "misgovernment and chaos" under Velasco, a five-time president.

Political instability is characteristic of Ecuador's history. In 115 years, the country has had 16 constitutions and in one recent 23-year period had 22 different presidents, dictators or ruling juntas.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

Coal-Short U.K. Faces Problems

LONDON (CP) — A Northumberland preparatory school plans to beat the electricity-cost shortage by moving the 72 boys and 10 teachers to a French summer school on the Brittany coast. Almost 200,000 British school-children have been sent home from unheated schools.

While the Commons was debating the power crisis Monday night, the lights went out. Attendants carried battery lights into the chamber but Parliament's generating system took over in a few minutes.

A bank and a hardware store on opposite sides of a Bedford street that marks the dividing line between districts subject to rotating power cuts rigged up an overhead cable for sharing each other's electricity. But the plan was dropped when they were warned they might be prosecuted.

Michael Williams, curator of the Dudley Zoo in Worcestershire, wraps snakes in blankets and takes them home to keep them warm.

The meteorological office has allayed the worry of many Londoners calling in about seeing strange, bright objects in the sky. They're stars. "Before the power cuts," a met man explained, "you could never see stars properly because of all the light in the city."

Life—and light—goes on as usual in the courtyard of the Temple, stronghold of the legal fraternity. It maintains 102 elegant and ornate Victorian gas lamps, which are lit nightly by one of the last of the traditional lamplighters.

Edith Potts, 52, found her long-separated brother John in a picket line as she was passing a power station in the London district of West Ham. John, 52, is a Kent coal miner. The pair had not met since their mother died in 1938 and the family split up.

Broadcasting stations are deluged with complaints by fans of soap operas and other series missing out on instalments during blackouts. The BBC and Independent TV are planning to give summaries of previous episodes.

An enterprising firm in Hampshire advertises: "Beat the fuel crisis. Cut your own logs with an electric chain saw."

Justice Department Successor Quieter Than His Predecessor

OTTAWA (CP) — John Turner romped into the justice department four years ago. His successor, Otto Lang, is more the calm after a storm.

Where Mr. Turner was bursting with ideas when he became justice minister in 1968, the new minister from the Prairies, a former Saskatchewan University law dean, says:

"I expect to take some time in getting a complete feel of the department before I begin to think about what can be done and in what period of time."

Mr. Turner has left plenty to think about. A bill on electronic eavesdropping didn't get beyond first reading in the long crowded session that ends this week.

He is expected to reappear in the throne speech opening the new session of Parliament Thursday, along with a package bill of Criminal Code amendments.

The package bill is expected to aim at removing vagrancy from the Criminal Code and to insert prohibitions against air piracy and concealed weapons.

DON'T TAKE STAND
Mr. Lang, in his first interview after becoming justice minister, bobbed and weaved on issues like abortion, capital punishment and divorce.

LETTER TO EDITOR

'FRENCH SUPREMACY'

Sir:
I look at the envelope from Ottawa on my desk. The sender has carefully printed my name and address in capital letters, but handwriting might betray his or her identification. Inside the envelope is a press clipping of my recent submission to the Ottawa papers, and it is carefully lettered expressions of thanks and appreciation.

Is this the freedom of which I and many other Canadians fought some 30 years ago? I shudder to think that my fellow Canadian citizens who live under the heel of the "French Supremacy Government" in Ottawa do not share my freedom. And while I enjoy my life in British Columbia, the land of Mr. Bennett, "the bigot," "I smile and I smile!"

Yours truly,
LEONARD R. SAUNDERS.

HORSED AROUND

VANCOUVER (CP)—Edward Senger of Coquitlam started a Supreme Court action Friday for $1,200 damages he alleges a horse did to his car. Senger is suing a Burnaby couple and a Vancouver woman on claims that a horse owned by the woman escaped from land owned by the couple and destroyed his car.

Ruling About Film Clips 'Threat To Free Press'

TORONTO (CP) — Two CBC executives Tuesday offered a defence of journalistic privilege when ordered by a judge to produce film footage shot by network news cameramen at an Oct. 25 demonstration outside the Ontario Science Centre here.

Eugene Hallman, vice-president and general manager of the CBC's English services division, and Kenneth Nash, director of information programs, both read prepared statements to Judge Anthony Vannini at a provincial inquiry after refusing to produce the film footage requested on a voluntary basis.

Text of their remarks:
Mr. Hallman:
The CBC fully recognizes the commission's right to order the presentation of materials in our possession which may be considered relevant to this investigation. We would, however, like to state briefly our objections to making available materials which have not been put on the air.

In recent years, particularly in the United States, there have been cases in which broadcasters and publishers have been confronted with an apparent conflict between the demands of journalistic practice on one hand and the specific orders of judicial authorities on the other to produce for examination material which has not been broadcast. (CBS Selling of the Pentagon, Chicago Riots).

The broadcaster's objection to such orders—and that of the publisher—is based on his conviction that neither the gathering nor the presentation of news (including the notes, the raw films, the unedited recordings of interviews or events) should be impaired by having the confidentiality of news sources or the integrity of editorial processes diminished in any way. They are diminished and members of the public or the journalistic profession come to regard broadcasters and publishers as unwitting means of official surveillance—by being ordered to produce news materials that are not already part of the public record—the free press may be less free.

In the present case the CBC has some film material from the demonstration at the Ontario Science Centre which has not been broadcast. We submit that the (inquiry) commission's request that this material be made available raises a question of principle.

If the CBC accedes without objection to the commission's wish we risk the possibility that on a future occasion, when a serious question of editorial judgment may have been involved in the selection of broadcast material, the corporation's freedom to advance reasons for being excused from the judicial order may be impaired. It is for this reason that the CBC believes it must request the commission to excuse it from producing the so-called "outs" footage which was never broadcast.

Mr. Nash:

As a professional journalist and with a fundamental responsibility in this field, I am deeply concerned about what we consider to be a highly dangerous abridgement of a free press inherent in the request for delivery of all the film shot by the CBC during the demonstration under investigation here.

The commission already has screened all the film which was used in CBC broadcasts. To ask now for what is called "the outs"—that film which was not used in what was a broadcast—represents what we feel amounts to an invasion of privacy of the news media. It endangers the basic freedom of the press. Our concern is not so much with the substance or character of this film but rather with the fundamental principle involved.

We believe what is being requested is dangerous to freedom of the press and the public's right to know for several reasons:

1. It makes the journalist, in effect, an investigative agent of the police department, government or courts. It puts the journalist in the role of a policeman and that is fundamentally wrong.

2. It has an inhibiting effect—indeed a chilling effect—on a reporter's ability to gather and report the news because it lays open to revelation and reprisal confidential sources of information.

3. It opens the door to intimidation of reporters and producers who should be concerned solely with providing the public with the pertinent facts of a given situation and not have to worry about the police, the government or the courts forever looking over their shoulders at their notes or film "outs" often in a totally different context from the time of the event.

The film "outs" which have been requested are much the same as the notes a newspaper reporter uses on which to base his story. As such, it seems to us an unwarranted invasion of the journalistic function to seek public presentation of these notes or "outs." Essentially such a request could well lead to indirect censorship. We should take every possible step to protect the public's interest by keeping journalism from this kind of surveillance.

I recognize these points are more in the nature of a philosophical argument than a legal argument. And we recognize this commission's right to make any request it deems appropriate. I think we in the journalistic business, however, have a right and an obligation to point out what we consider to be an action which could well limit in the future the public's right to know.

There has been recent experience in the United States relating to actions which threatened to stifle the public's right to know, and I feel the Canadian public, too, must have this basic right protected.

In no way do I think we should inhibit the pursuit of justice, but in instances such as this, justice, I believe, is better served by the preservation of the right of privacy to our film "outs" or notes. We cannot voluntarily provide all the requested material, and therefore I would ask respectfully that we be excused from having to deliver to this hearing the film "outs" as well as that film already seen by public and the commission.

CANADA'S STORY

J. A. MacDonald Wed In London

By BOB BOWMAN

What a year 1887 was for Sir John A. Macdonald! He got married, saw the BNA Act passed by parliament in Britain, saw Canada become a Dominion, received a knighthood, and won a general election.

Sir John had been a widower for nine years when he was in London for the passing of the BNA Act. His son, who later became Sir Hugh Macdonald, Premier of Manitoba, was 17 years old.

Sir John was walking along Bond Street one afternoon and he met Susan Agnes Bernard, sister of Colonel Hewitt Bernard, a close friend and senior official in the office of the Attorney General for Canada West. In fact Macdonald and Bernard had shared bachelor quarters in Ottawa for a time.

The meeting with Susan led to a whirlwind courtship of theatres and dinners, and marriage at St. George's Church, Hanover Square, on February 16. The Bishop of Montreal, Metropolitan of Canada, performed the service. The bride was attended by daughters of four delegates, McGee, McDougall, Tupper, and Archibald. The wedding breakfast was at the Westminster Place Hotel with 70 guests. The toast to the bride was proposed by Francis Hincks, then Governor of British Guiana, but who had been a political opponent of Macdonald. Then the couple left on a three-day honeymoon at Oxford.

Susan Bernard proved to be an ideal wife for her husband and was a tower of strength through the troubled years ahead. They shared a great tragedy in their daughter who was physically abnormal and required constant medical attention for the rest of her life. Nevertheless Macdonald was always devoted to her. On the occasions when parliament was meeting at night, Macdonald would go home during the recess and read to her. Until Christmas Day 1871 she had the distinction of being the only child born to a Prime Minister during his term of office.

OTHER EVENTS ON FEB. 16: 1685—LaSalle built Fort St. Louis in Texas.

1857—Early spring floods caused great damage in Upper Canada.

1872—First legislature of British Columbia after confederation was opened.

1882—New parliament building at Fredericton was opened.

1934—Newfoundland came under commission government.

1958—Canadian conference on education met at Ottawa.

CAPITAL COMMENT

Ontario Seen As Battleground

By FARMER TISSINGTON

OTTAWA — Between now and the next federal election you will read a lot about how important Ontario is to the fortunes of the major political parties. Several stories have already been published describing the most populated province as the chief battleground in the coming campaign and how necessary it is for the Conservatives to gain heavily there if they have any hope of forming the next government.

For a number of reasons there is a good deal of truth in these assessments. But there is also a tendency to exaggerate the situation, particularly as it applies to the Tory fortunes. Figures can often be misleading and boring, but I think a glance at the following will be of some interest.

It is true the Conservatives have nowhere to go but up in Ontario. They are presently at their lowest point with only 18 seats. But there is a belief that Ontario has almost always been the preserve of the party in federal elections and this is not a fact.

A look at the last 10 elections, 1935-1968, shows the Conservatives have elected a total of 56 members, compared with 444 elected by the Liberals. These figures, which do not take into account subsequent bye-elections, give an average of about 44% Liberals chosen in each election to 35% Conservatives. The New Democrats, and the CCF before them, trail badly with an average of 3% MP elected each time.

Take the last six elections, starting with 1957, the Conservatives show up somewhat better. They elected 233 MPs against 243 for the Liberals and 33 for the New Democrats, for averages of about 39 Conservatives, 40% Liberals and 1% New Democrats.

TWO BIG WINS
But these improved Conservative figures during the last six elections are greatly influenced by the two elections in 1957 and 1958 when John Diefenbaker led the party out of the political wilderness.

To suggest that the Conservatives can win the next election by scoring heavily in Ontario also suggests that Robert Stanfield, party leader, can pull off a Moses-like stunt equivalent to Mr. Diefenbaker's. Frankly, I doubt that he can, regarding the circumstances, the personalities and other conditions.

Conservative strength in Ontario in the last 10 elections has been as low as the present 18 members and as high as 67 in 1958. But in five of those 10 elections the party elected 25 or fewer MPs. In another, it elected only 27 and in another, 35.

Liberal strength in the province has ranged from a low of 14 in 1958 to the recent high of 63. But in six of the 10 elections, the Liberals won in more than 50 ridings.

Rather surprisingly, the CCF and NDP have never had much federal impact in Ontario, despite the fact the province is highly industrialized and unionized. Only since 1957 has the party cut any ice and, even then, its best effort was nine members in 1965.

QUEBEC IS KEY

It seems clear from these figures that Ontario may not fall like a ripe plum into the Tory lap and, even if it did, it might not be enough. If the party held every seat it now holds outside Ontario and if it matched its 1958 performance of 67 Ontario seats, it would still be 10 seats short of a clear majority, although probably in a position to form a minority government.

But the 1958 performance is not likely to be repeated this time, which means the party must find a way to make significant gains in Quebec. That is clearly the task before Mr. Stanfield and the party brass and, at this point, it is doubtful if any system of Quebec leadership-committee is going to turn the trick.

A strong, popular Quebec lieutenant is still a number one requirement for victory.

BIBLE BRIEF

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." John 3:3.
Natural birth is a supernatural miracle work of God and so it is with spiritual birth. No work, no wisdom, no will of man can bring it to pass, but faith can. "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved."

Legislation Forgets Canada

President Nixon and Treasury Secretary John B. Connally held an unusual private meeting in the Bahamas recently amid rampant rumors about Connally's political future and talk of a cabinet split over United States trade relations, particularly with Canada, says a Canadian Press report out of Washington.

Canada-U.S. relations were put under particular strain when Connally went to Congress legislation covering devaluation of the U.S. dollar. It included new trade concessions negotiated from Japan and the European Common Market, as part of the devaluation deal, but none from Canada—which Connally termed regrettable.

Subsequently there were published reports of the cabinet split. Canada's Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin, suggesting there may indeed be such a split, told reporters in Ottawa Connally was "obsessed" with the need for an annual balance of trade between Canada and the U.S. despite Nixon's assurances to Prime Minister Trudeau in Washington Dec. 6 that the U.S. does not demand such a balance.

While it is known the state department is frequently left wringing its hands in anguish over Connally's heavy-handed manner in dealing with friendly nations, a number of government sources and observers discount the idea of a split.

Nixon has a tendency, however, to give a free rein to tough-talking members of the administration such as Connally and Vice-President Spiro

Agnew, who has rocked the country with strong attacks on the news media, youth movements and environmentalists. The feeling is that they can say and do things Nixon advocates but would not seem appropriate coming from the president.

Furthermore, these sources suggest, the differences with Canada are not of sufficient consequences in the over-all scale of things to risk a damaging cabinet fight, particularly in a presidential election year.

The absence of a new trade agreement with Canada, despite intensive negotiations since the December monetary agreement, drew only passing mention in most American newspaper accounts of the dollar-devaluation legislation.

The White House discounted published reports that the U.S. wanted to reimpose a seven-per-cent excise tax on Canadian-built cars in an effort to force complete revision of the 1965 Canada-U.S. auto pact, a main source of friction in the trade talks. The White House said Saturday no such plan was under consideration.

However, although the devaluation bill seems assured of passage the debate will provide a forum for protectionist quarters in Congress and much of such sentiment now could focus on Canada since Japan and the Common Market have come to terms with the U.S. Also, congressmen could seek to add amendments to restrain imports from Canada if no deal is available by the time Congress starts deliberation on the bill late this month.

WHEN THE LIGHTS GO OUT IN LONDON

Power cuts caused by the shortage of coal during the coal miners strike has resulted in all manner of alternative power and lighting methods to be brought into play by Britons, many of whom remember the total blackout during the Second World War. Here a 'pub' finds it's business as usual and the candles, necessary to see with, bring a sort of cozy aura into the premises, and are reportedly doing much to boost trade in many public houses.

Serious Swing To Socialism Observed In Western Canada

TORONTO (CP) — H. P. Bell-Irving of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Real Estate Association, says there is a "very, very serious" swing towards socialism in Western countries.

Addressing the annual conference of the Ontario Real Estate Association Monday, Mr. Bell-Irving said:

"Throughout the Western world we are gradually becoming more and more socialist. This seems to be a product of democracy."

Critical of some recent legislation enacted by the federal government, Mr. Bell-Irving said he favors retention of private enterprise and "a country where little men may own their own businesses and their own land."

The competition Act, now before Parliament but not yet debated, contains, he said, "a front to accepted standards of justice and measures which would stultify legitimate, useful and harmless business enterprises."

D. J. Barber of Toronto, superintendent of agencies for the Crown Life Insurance Co., reviewed what he said was the lack of success a socialist government had in Saskatchewan between 1944 and 1964.

He said half of the 22 Crown corporations set up in that province during the period went bankrupt with a loss to the taxpayers of $500 million.

ZEPPELIN'S DEMISE

Mystery Of Hindenberg Takes To Air Once More

NEW YORK (Reuter) — A 35-year-old mystery surrounding the destruction of the zeppelin Hindenburg has been revived with publication of a book supporting theories that the German airship was sabotaged.

The dirigible, pride of Nazi Germany's pre-war civil aviation fleet, was gutted by fire May 6, 1937, as it was about to moor at the U.S. naval air station at Lakehurst, N.J., following a transatlantic flight.

Twenty-two of the 61 crew members died, along with 13 of the 36 passengers. One of the ground crew also was fatally injured, bringing the death toll to 36.

An official inquiry said St. Elmo's fire—a bright discharge of static electricity—was the most probable cause of the disaster.

Author Michael H. Mooney, in his book Hindenburg, says the craft was set on fire by a bomb planted by a young member of the crew, a rigger named Eric Spehl.

He had meant the bomb to go off after the passengers and crew had disembarked. The airship was late in mooring, however, due to bad weather, and the bomb went off while they still were aboard. Spehl was fatally injured.

DISLIKED HITLER REGIME

Mooney says Spehl, 25, born in the tiny Black Forest village of Goschweiler, became disillusioned with the Hitler regime, partly because of its persecution of Catholic priests and nuns. The book says he planned to remain in the U.S. after destroying the Hindenburg.

The author said the members of the U.S. inquiry into the disaster had decided to rule out sabotage as a cause, in order not to stir up an international incident.

At the same time, he said, the inquiry board's German observers had been ordered by their superiors also to avoid a finding of sabotage. "No mortal means was to be accorded the honor of destroying a key symbol of the Reich," Mooney writes. Mooney examined thousands of documents in U.S. and German archives relating to the Hindenburg disaster.

They show, he said, that the inquiry and German observers held secret meetings at night to discuss "off the record, the inescapable evidence of sabotage before them."

Four Thunder Bay Aldermen Unseated For Business Deals

THUNDER BAY, Ont. (CP) — District Court Judge W. T. Hollinger Tuesday unseated four city aldermen for business dealings with the city in contravention of the Ontario Municipal Act.

In handing down his 15-page judgment, Judge Hollinger said the four "are not entitled to sit or to vote in the council of the corporation of the city of Thunder Bay by reason of contracts entered by their companies with the corporation."

He ordered new elections held to fill the vacant seats on the 13-member council.

The four aldermen are Edgar Laprade, who operates a sporting goods store; Huber Badanal Jr., an automobile dealer; George Lovelady, a camera shop proprietor; and Tom Jones, a contractor.

The judge said although the four contravened a section of the municipal act, they "acted openly, in good faith and, I believe, honestly in what each considered to be the best interests of the municipality."

The case, heard last month, was initiated by businessman Lloyd George Hurdon, who asked the judge for a declaratory judgment on whether the men were eligible to sit on council.

It was touched off by council's granting of a $278,000 contract for a municipal storage building to a firm operated by Ald.

'FATHER' OF JEEVES

Wodehouse May Yet Receive U.K. Award For His Writing

LONDON (CP) — The Queen's New Year honors list came and went again without mentioning veteran author P. G. Wodehouse, although there is a growing feeling here that England owes some accolade to the creator of Jeeves and Bertie Wooster—and also some amends for an old wartime grievance.

During the flurry of literary tributes on Wodehouse's 90th birthday last fall, broadcasting executive Aidan Crawley suggested in a radio interview and a letter to The Times that it was high time the past was forgotten and Pelham Grenville Wodehouse given a knighthood for his services to the art of English comic fiction.

The Times also ran an editorial suggesting the honors list would provide suitable recognition.

Crawley, president of a London-based commercial television company, said he thinks Wodehouse was a victim of his period when he was accused of treachery after making some misguidedly light-hearted broadcasts about his experiences as an internee in Nazi Germany.

Wodehouse later said the broadcasts, beamed to the United States while he was under house arrest in Berlin's luxurious Adlon Hotel, were "a loony thing to do."

In one of them he described some German soldiers as "a fine body of men, rather prettily dressed in green." In another, he confessed that whenever he began to feel belligerent about a country, he would meet a "decent sort of chap . . . and lose any fighting thoughts or feelings."

His five radio talks aroused a virulent reaction in a Britain with its back to the wall in the summer of 1941.

Primed by Information Minister Duff Cooper, Daily Mirror columnist Cassandra, the late Bill Connor, broadcast a savage attack, accusing Wodehouse of pro-Nazi collaboration and saying the writer had "made his last and greatest sale—that of his own country."

Speeches were made in Parliament and it was even suggested he should be brought to trial as a traitor.

After the war, Wodehouse settled in Long Island in New York state and he has not been back to England since. He still cherishes a private dream of his home land, caught in some sunny, 1920s atmosphere like that of his Arcadian books.

Crawley said in a recent interview that he is not surprised at Wodehouse's continued absence from the honors list.

"Wodehouse had less political sense than any man in the world," said the TV chief, himself a former prisoner of war. "He was a victim of his period. I feel it is time he was recognized."

Thriller writer John le Carré, reviewing the two books published here to mark Wodehouse's 90th birthday—a new novel, Much Obligated, Jeeves and an omnibus of stories called The World of Jeeves—took up a similar line to Crawley.

"It is to our great discredit," wrote the author of The Spy Who Came In From The Cold, "that we have shown ourselves to be without generosity toward perhaps our most persistently accomplished writer of the 20th century."

Still Retains Master's Touch

Le Carré said the charges of collaboration, though later formally discounted in Parliament, "are known to have wounded him at the time, and probably wound him still."

Wodehouse had never received as much as an OBE (Officer of the Order of the British Empire), a decoration handed out widely in every honors list.

"Medals are rather dead things, he would probably say. But at least they are a way of saying sorry. Better still, he might even pop over to receive it."

Wodehouse's latest Jeeves epic—published here by Barrie and Jenkins—was received with rapture by British critics, delighted to find the old master had lost none of his gossamer touch.

The story, which naturally involves the imperturbable valet in rescuing the young master from sundry embarrassments—not to mention two predatory ex-fiances—displays the usual precision-made Wodehouse plot, this time focused on a rural bachelorette.

A few 1970s expressions such as "the fuzz" and "the population explosion" filter into an otherwise pure vintage example of what Wodehouse himself has called "writing musical comedy without the music."

IMAGERY TYPICAL

The pages cascade with classic Wodehouse images, Jeeves, the valet sublime, is constantly shimmering in and out "as serene and unmoved as an oyster on the half-shell." His preliminary, deprecating cough sounds like "a very old sheep clearing its throat on a misty mountain top."

Bertie Wooster's formidable Aunt Dahlia is "a woman whose lightest whisper was like someone calling the cattle home across the sands of Dee."

The Wodehouse productivity is overwhelming. He published his first novel in 1902 and the then prime minister, A. J. Balfour, was an early admirer. Other eminent fans included Herbert Asquith, Britain's First World War premier, the poet Rudyard Kipling.

Take Off Fat With Home Recipe Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugstore and ask for Naran. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day as needed and follow the Naran Reducing Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

MURDER CHARGE

Four Confess To Stoning

CALGARY (CP) — A signed confession revealing that four members of the Commandos Motorcycle Club stoned and drowned a fellow member last September was read in Alberta Supreme Court today.

The testimony came after Mr. Justice O'Byrne ruled admissible a confession given to police by Robin Markquis Brown, 17, one of three charged with the non-capital murder of Robert Gordon McLean.

Others on trial are Stephen Gerald Poirier, 20, and Daryl Wayne Johnston, 20.

Detective Ernest Reimer read to the court Brown's statement that he, Johnston and Poirier and another club member, John Fortin, 22, took McLean to the Bow River and "executed" him for violating a club rule.

In the confession, Brown wrote that Johnston and Poirier threw the 20-year-old city youth into the water. The four then pelted him with rocks, and Fortin held him under water until he died, the confession said.

Aussie Power To Flow Again

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Power workers in Victoria state went back to work today, ending a strike which put 200,000 Australians out of work and caused drastic cuts in public services during the last two weeks.

The workers agreed to submit their demand for an extra week's vacation to an arbitration commission.

Kierans Takes A Look Ahead At Canadian Economic Role

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Canada's future role in world economics may be limited to supplying energy and natural resources to one of three major super groups, Eric Kierans, former communications minister, said here.

By 1980, he said, Japan, United States and the European Common Market will be able to supply the world with all necessary commercial products.

These three groups will not set out to destroy each other but will perhaps want to come to some sort of agreement, he said in a speech at Trent University.

Canada, he said, will figure nowhere at all in this "inevitable thrust." While Canada is an industrial country, others have been responsible for building that industry.

Once a country is into "that kind of fix" where more than half the economy is controlled from abroad, the future direction and expansion of the country is also controlled from abroad, he said.

Among the measures he advocated is a restructuring of Canada's technical priorities.

"In this area, we have to take a serious look at the technology being imposed on us," he added.

"We have to begin to check our priorities and say what our policy is going to be in respect to resource development."

"Everybody thinks we're rich because we're digging it out of the ground and giving it away."

A Tire
So Safe,
So Strong
It Could
Outlast
Your Car!

This tire gives you better performance, design and safety than any other tire made today. We're making a strong claim. And it's backed up with a tire built with the strength of steel. The Allstate Radial is a new idea in tire design . . . so safe and so nearly indestructible that they will probably be the last tires you install on your car.

- Steel cord belts keep the tread right and flat on the road
- Rayon radial plys allow maximum flexibility, eliminating squirm. You'll get more than double the mileage of ordinary tires.

- Allstate radial tires run up to 25% cooler than conventional tires
- Steel cord belts resist cuts and punctures
- Steel braced tread keeps grooves open so there's more tread on the road for better traction.

- Steel braced tread keeps flat on curves to give effortless controlled cornering.
- Absence of squirm means less rolling resistance which adds up to a whopping 10% savings on gas mileage.

Year Of Rat Starts Noisily

PEKING (Reuters) — China ushered in the Year of the Rat Tuesday with more noise and exuberance than in any spring festival since the start of the Cultural Revolution in 1966. Loud reports echoed around the Chinese capital during the night as fireworks and colored rockets hailed the new year by the lunar calendar.

Today the streets were busy as families went on traditional visits to relatives to exchange gifts and eat rice cakes and dumplings.

Children were enjoying the first of three days off from school and little girls everywhere played an elaborate game of dancing and skipping, which is the rage in Peking.

China's intellectuals stayed at home, enjoying an official new year bonanza—the publication of a number of ancient and modern social and economic Chinese and European classics.

Where Does Lump Go Is Reader's Query

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My hitherto high opinion of you took a downward plunge when you said the cause of burping was swallowing of air.

If you are right, how do you account for my experience? From time to time I am discomforted by what feels like a lump near the top of my alimentary canal. I take a swallow of some liquid which usually has the happy outcome of a burp ending my discomfort and causing someone to say: "Must have been something you ate."

Now, if I had merely swallowed air and burped it up, would not the distressing lump have remained? Or if I were in the habit of swallowing air, would not I burp whenever I swallowed instead of only at the occurrence of a lump?—M.L.S.

Air-swallowing is the commonest, although not the only cause of burps.

A way, to answer your doubting questions, you feel a "lump." You drink something—which opens the valve from esophagus into the stomach momentarily. The burp comes up. The lump is gone.

Well, madam, just what do you think the "lump" was? It could be air and a spasm of the gullet.

And why don't you burp every time you swallow?

First of all, because you doubtless don't always swallow enough air to cause a bubble which feels like a lump.

If it'll make you feel better, I'll agree that the "lump" that you feel really is a lump, and that it mysteriously disappears when you drink something and burp. I'll agree with you, that is, to keep peace in the family. But I'll keep my original thoughts on the matter.

Or would it help if you could get your friends to say, when you burp, "Something you swallowed, no doubt?"

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a school teacher, 47, in good health, hard-working. I had the misfortune to be sent to a school where I could not control the children. At 38 I ceased to menstruate. After two transfers, the board of education transferred me last year to a school where the atmosphere is one of refinement. Now, after eight years, I am beginning to menstruate again. Have you ever heard of a woman being so shocked that menstruation stops for eight years and then resumes?—M.A.

Yes. It happens under severe emotional strain which can affect regularly or even stop periods. And yes, when the emotional situation returns to a more normal one, the cycle can return to normal.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You wrote about a person who had to have shots for bee stings. My husband has to be careful also, and has been advised to take antihistamine tablets immediately if it should happen again. You said you knew of "no alternative," so we have been wondering if the antihistamines would help?—Mrs. F.D.

Who "advised" the antihistamines, friends or the doctor? They help relatively minor allergies, but can't cope with a really serious reaction to a bee sting or the like. If your doctor advised the antihistamines, I would take it that your husband has an unpleasant but not a dangerous reaction. What I had reference to was the emergent need for a quick acting medication.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

The bidding:
East 1NT
South 3NT
West Pass
North 2NT

Opening lead—six of hearts. A gambit, in chess, consists of deliberately sacrificing a piece in order to gain an overall advantage.

Bridge has its gambits also. Declarer will sometimes sacrifice a trick in order to improve his chances of making the contract. The opportunity seldom arises, of course, but when it does, declarer must be alert enough to seize it.

South failed to meet the challenge in this case where West led a heart against three no-trump. Declarer played low from dummy and won East's king with the ace. When he led a diamond, East took the ace and returned a heart. West very smartly permitted dummy's ten to win, thus putting an end to declarer's chances.

In desperation South tried a club finesse that succeeded, but it gave him only his eighth trick. When he then led a spade, East took the ace, returned a heart, and West cashed three hearts to put the contract down one.

South would have made the hand had he ducked the king of hearts at trick one and played the jack on the continuation at trick two. This would have cost him a heart trick—he would have scored only one heart trick instead of two—but the trick he deliberately sacrificed would have come back with interest. He would have lost two heart tricks and two aces, but no more.

It is not difficult for declarer to determine that East, for his opening bid, has the two missing aces, and that West's lead was likely to be based on a five-card suit.

It follows from this that the opportunity to make two heart tricks ranks second in importance to the opportunity to make the contract. Refusing to win the king of hearts may appear to be self-injurious, but it is clearly the play called for by the circumstances.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Aries (March 21-April 19): Useful, fairly confidential information should be put to use toward getting an edge on your career effort. Neglected correspondence may have something of considerable importance waiting attention.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Friends are full of impractical schemes. Use common sense, draw your own definite pattern, then stick to it.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Be willing to try new activities, a fresh environment. Make an effort to recover whatever you've lent, collect funds you're entitled to.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Dispose of any legal questions. Your powers of persuasion are at a high, should be used diligently if you have something to sell.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Success today depends on your personal responsibilities, how well you carry them. Decide early on your program; schedule peak activity as late as feasible.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Get everybody talking, listen for what is left out, ask questions. The earlier you request anything you want, the better. Introductions, sharing of hobbies are strongly favored.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Getting the sense of a deal quickly and settling for reasonable terms promptly makes all the difference. Make up your mind and go ahead.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A positive approach speeds career efforts. You can bypass some corners for the moment on today's deals.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Discretion is suddenly crucial where any intrigue is going on. Survey your home for safety conditions, protect cherished objects from visitors who have no idea of the worth you place on them.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): New business, creative endeavors are favored, even where you may suspend something that should be soon finished. Positive attitudes, asking others to participate helps resolve any inconveniences.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your expertise is in demand. Reconcile the many demands for your attention; give a fair share to all that serve your purpose, let the others wait.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Keep a tight discipline over spending as you go about making friends and doing social favors. Fresh business contacts, however, will require small investments for public relations.

AGREE ON PROGRAM
THUNDER BAY (CP) — City representatives and the Ontario Water Resources Commission have agreed on an eight-year $15-million pollution-abatement program. During the 1972-1979 period, construction will begin on nine major projects including work on the city's two sewage treatment plants, interceptors, regular sewers and the outfall pipe to Lake Superior.

Roof Fell In On Cordova St.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A section of ceiling collapsed at the Army and Navy department store annex and merchandise floated out into Cordova Street as water poured from broken pipes in the fire extinguisher system.

Close to 100 persons were in this part of the store, but nobody was hurt.

Cracks in the plaster appeared first and employees estimated it took at least 10 minutes for the section of ceiling to come down.

There was no estimate of damage.

NO MORE BANS

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Authorities announced that the posting of marriage intentions in South Africa will not be required after Feb. 1.
